Mr. Kandik talks with his team during a time out in a tournament game at the University of Toledo.

His students, in the classroom or on the basketball court, will be the first to tell you that Andy Kandik is an exacting man. He demands much — quality, consistency, and above all, 100 per cent effort. As a result, his students have a lot to show for their time spent with him.

Although they seldom cross his face, his proud smiles do make their warm appearance, and the "King of the Hardwood Floor" has a lot to be proud of.

Mr. Kandik was graduated from the University of Toledo in 1940 with a BS in Secondary Education, and was awarded his MA in 1959. He now teaches social studies at Scott, a fact which is overshadowed by his athletic success, but none the less appreciated.

Since 1954 Mr. Kandik has been head basketball coach, was, until three years ago, baseball coach, and at one time served as line coach for the football team. His greatest achievements, however, have been in basketball. In the past five seasons, he has compiled a 72—23 record, including sectional and regional championships for the last three years, and city and regional championships in 1958 and 1960, with trips to the state semi-finals in Columbus in 1959 and 1960. On November 5, 1960, Mr. Kandik was honored by his Alma Mater with election to the University of Toledo Hall of Fame for athletic success during and after his college career.

It is this man, Mr. Andrew Kandik, to whom we owe a major part of Scott's athletic fame, and to him we dedicate this book.

We Have Learned to Live Together

What is Scott? It is not a building, consisting of a labyrinth of classrooms; it is not an institution of tradition, molding its children to its stereotyped design. Here at Scott — your Scott — you have entered new worlds of opportunity. You have spoken your first words in the governing of your own affairs. Through Scott you have taken your first big step in your long climb through life.

Scott is a spirit, a feeling. Its body is your loyalty, your dreams, your hopes and fears; and you, the students, 1633 of you, are its arms, its legs, its mind, and its heart. It lives and breathes through you, and you, Scotters, can uphold it or destroy it.

The countenance of your school is not impassive; it is constantly moving, changing, laughing, or crying with its students. Scott is a fixed physical entity, and yet it goes everywhere and forever with each of its students.

It goes with you in the form of files of shining memories, stacked neatly away and carefully guarded; it goes in the form of knowledge, acquired with the confidence that its substance will not betray you; and it goes in the form of experiences — new ones, with new friends — experiences in living successfully with peoples of different colors, creeds, and customs, as friends. You, Scotters, are tomorrow's America, and your Scott has helped to prepare you.

Dear Mickey
You are indeed a friend to be proud of. It has truly enjoyed being in your class and conversing with you. You have many attributes to be proud of. May the Lord Bless You and Keep. Good Luck in all you do.
Always
Lorraine

"Everyone's a queen . . ."

"Training is everything . . ."

"". . . It's how you played the game."

SCOTT LOYALTY SONG

Come and join in songs of praise
To our happy high school days,
For the Scott we love always Dearest, best of all.

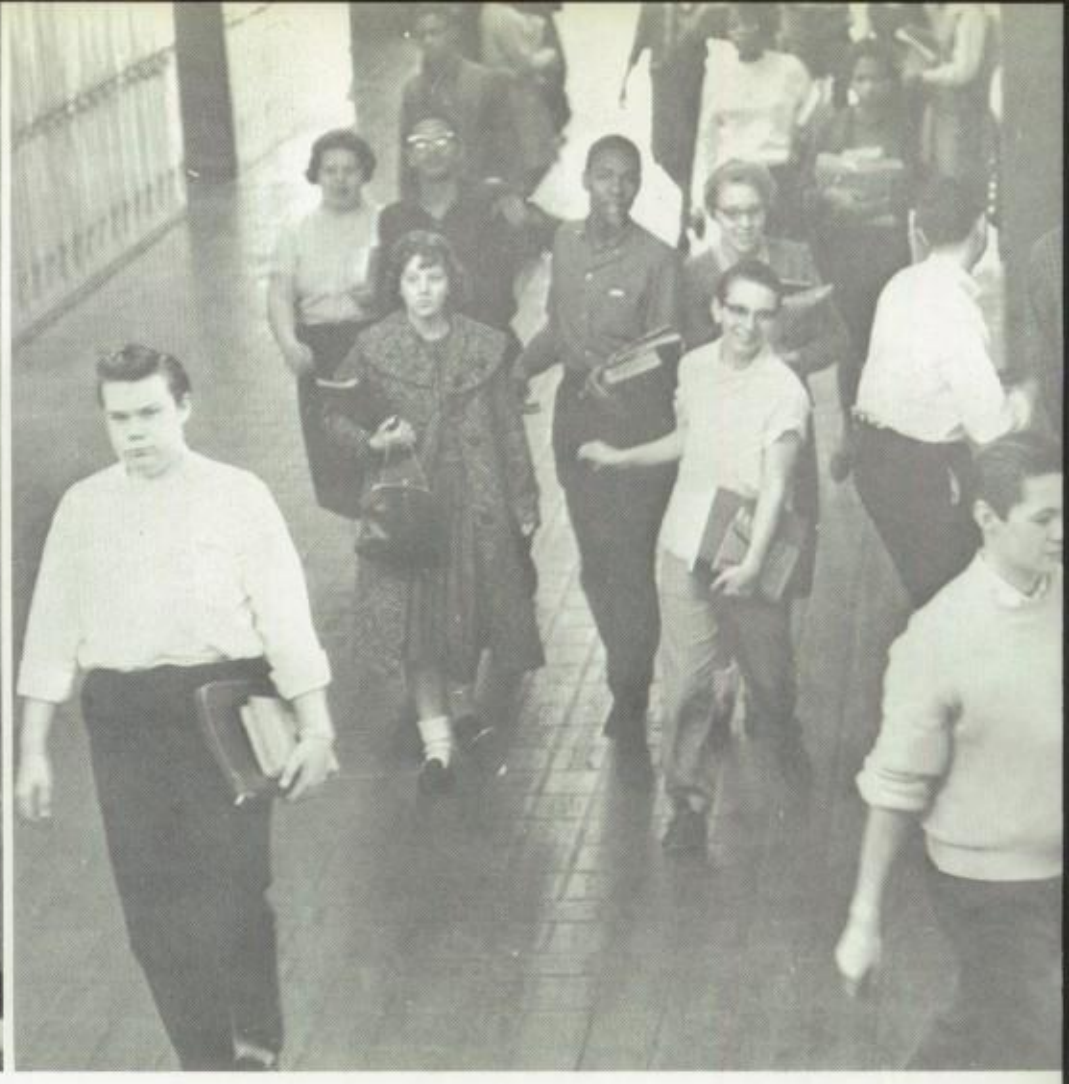
Hail! Our Alma Mater true!
Loyalty in us renew!
All that heart and hands can do,
Dear Old Scott, we pledge to you.

Like the star gleams in the night,
Shine her colors maroon and white;
Keep her honor pure and bright,
Till all time is done.

When through all the years to come,
Far away our steps may roam,
Memory will call us home,
To the Scott we love.

" . . . new experiences, with new friends."



"You are tomorrow's America . . ."

We Have Made Lasting Friendships

This was a year for many activities: Scott Skits; the Senior Plays, "Four for Tonight"; the Varsity Drag; the junior and senior proms; countless inspirational and pep assemblies; and many scholastic competitions. With each of these activities, you have enjoyed a multitude of happy moments, but each of these moments also took the work and co-operation of many students.

The memories that you made here belonged not to just the actors in the senior plays, or to the Thanksgiving Queen and her court, but to everyone who had even the smallest part in these events — to the stage crews, to the planners and workers of the numerous committess, and to the many unofficial volunteers.

These pleasures were shared equally among these many people, but as they shared each happy moment with others, their memories then only became more vivid.

". . . new worlds of opportunity."

" . . . the candles which keep the fire burning."

" . . . our first words in the governing of our own affairs."

We Have Strengthened Our Skills in Learning

Of all the many things you will take with you from Scott, the most important is knowledge, knowledge imparted to you by the one sustaining component of your school — your faculty. These teachers, who seek out students and challenge them to learn, are not in fact the lamp of knowledge — for you are that — but are the ever so few candles that keep the fire burning.

Each year, hundreds of students at Scott pass through the hands of these dedicated persons into the world, and perhaps to none do Scotters owe as great a debt as to their teachers.

There is no more fitting phrase to apply to these self-sacrificing instructors than one from a great American who also appreciated the value of service:

"The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here."

" . . . but it can never forget what they did here."

" . . . only as good as its bench."

"They are proud of themselves."

We Have Won and Lost — Together

When you leave Scott, you will take along memories of great teams, with great records, and more than your share of thrills and excitement; for Scott has fielded many memorable teams. But their records are not always an accurate picture of their desire to win.

When a losing season slowly works itself into the record books, spirit lags, and the team — the year — is lost amid the trophies and greater glories of previous years. But to a few lucky and deserving ones the season is not forgotten.

For that handful of loyal followers who attend every game, for those many devoted athletes who give time and effort without complaint, but know that they will never get to play a game, their efforts have not been wasted. They are proud — that is as it should be. We, too, should be proud — they are our team.

"Your only strength is in your unity . . ."

". . . for the benefit of many."

"The chessboard is the world, the pieces are the phenomena of the universe . . ."

We Have Worked Toward a New Life

This year you, the students, have supported numerous organizations and clubs. Nearly all of you at one time have worked in clubs or organizations with others whose interests and goals were similar to your own, and you have learned and progressed through the experience.

These organizations were many and varied in purpose. To handle current student and school problems, you elected representatives to the Student Representative Assembly and class councils to lead you. For merely pleasure, there were the Y-Teens and the Hi-Y. Others, such as J.E.T.S. and the Business Club, furthured your vocational interests; and the outstanding music department afforded you both a step in a career and a great deal of pleasure through varied assemblies and programs. There were also service organizations, such as the Meditation Committee, where a few worked for the benefit of many.

Although each club had a different purpose, all these organizations had essentially the same purpose: to aid you in cultivating your own interests through work with others of similar ideas.

"You are only as good as your leaders . . ."

Having successfully completed three scholastic years of planning extracurricular activities and striving for academic goals, the Class of 1961 was ready when September, 1960, arrived to make their last year the best of all.

Using a presidential-election theme, the seniors sponsored a popular sock-hop, "Election Daze." From the lovely float designed by her fellow classmen, their Thanksgiving queen reigned over the football festivities. To serve others, some seniors provided refreshments for the basketball team after the Sylvania game; twenty senior boys sold newspapers for the annual Old Newsboys' Charity Drive. The evening of February 4, 1961, inaugurated the first senior dramatic activity to be produced as four one-act plays. Finally the Senior Prom, the formal social event everyone had anticipated throughout high school, occurred on May 20, 1961. On June 9, 1961, commencement made a reality the hopes and dreams of each senior.

Bob Ross, well known in Scott's classrooms and on her athletic fields, helped bring glory to Scott High School. He stood out among his classmates as an outstanding athlete. By excelling in varsity football and basketball, he won honors for himself and his school.

His rank in sports did not eclipse his personality as an enthusiastic Scotter. Bob exemplified the spirit of his school. Sportsmanship, friendliness, and aspiration made Bob Ross a person who will always be remembered by those who knew and admired him.

Queen Betty Reigns Over Thanksgiving Festivities

The queen and her court stand and receive a tribute from the band and the students.

A hush fell over the students as the first strains of the "March Processional" opened the traditional Thanksgiving Pep assembly which included the coronation of the homecoming queen. Led by the majorettes, the court, Tona Odom, Alma Blueitt, Paula Adams, Anne Harris, and the attendants, Nannie Fitzgerald and Betty Ellis, gracefully ascended the stage. The long-awaited moment finally arrived as the lovely Queen Betty McCaughey began her march down the aisle. The crowning of the queen by Walter Brown, a member of the football team, and her acceptance speech climaxed a beautiful assembly.

Thanksgiving morning was bright and sunny, a perfect setting for the annual Turkey Day football classic between Scott and Waite. At the beginning of the game Betty McCaughey presented the official football to the kick-off team. For the remainder of the game the queen reigned from the gala float built for her by the Senior Class. Betty's reign continued at the Varsity Drag Thanksgiving Night where couples danced to the music of the Lloyd Lewis Band.

Our lovely queen, Betty McCaughey.

Every girl is a queen to someone in her life.

— Betty McCaughey

Seniors Make Four for Tonight a Success.

On February 4, 1961, under the direction of Mr. James Eppstein and Mr. Donald Robb, the Senior Class presented FOUR FOR TONIGHT, a dramatic production in the form of four one-act satires.

"If Men Played Cards As Women Do" mocked the cattiness of women at a card party. In "Overtones" two ladies conversed while their inner selves revealed their true thoughts. Relatives were too quick to divide the property of their "deceased" grandfather in "The Dear Departed." The last play, "Aria da Capo," illustrated that people pursue their own selfish interests, even in the turmoil of war.

Dave Bethany, Gary Gamby, and Steve Jepson admire the style of Jim Pencheff's new attire in "If Men Played Cards As Women Do."

Mr. Edward Brewer presents Lucille Baginski with the award for fourth place in the "Jobs for the Handicapped" essay contest at the WTDS radio station.

Scott students often extended their activities beyond the walls of their classrooms. Many such students were seniors who experienced both work and enjoyment as they pursued their interests outside school. Each individual was challenged to gain knowledge through an activity of his own choice. As some sought to express their thoughts through writing, others strove to understand the ideas of different peoples. Certain students excelled scholastically while still others displayed creativity through projects in science, art, and literature. For the time and the effort they put forth, these hardworking students merited the rewards that they received.

An industrious Junior Class initiated their numerous activities with a dance which cemented the needed class unity. This class spirit stimulated group participation in the creation of a float depicting Scott's mascot, the bulldog, for the Scott-Waite football game. Junior Class members worked together at a bake sale at which they sold many homemade desserts. The highpoint of the year was the semi-formal class prom. By performing these various activities they learned that enthusiasm results in unity and creativity.

A quiet young man, who was a promising athlete, walked the halls of Scott last year. His friendly smile and joyful attitude projected his good nature to all who knew him. He was James Houston, a member of the Class of 1962 and a tackle on the Scott High School lightweight football team. Through his honest desire to apply himself diligently in activities, James Houston typified the "Scott spirit."

French students become acquainted with the leading industrial cities of France.

Before classes began each morning of the school day, many juniors gathered informally in study hall 214. Some concentrated on an American government assignment, and some practiced their oral exercises for French or Spanish classes. The juniors also used this opportunity as a chance to compare results on challenging problems assigned for their homework. It was during these study sessions that many cherished friendships were formed. Before long, however, books closed, studying ceased, and the industrious juniors discussed their latest class project. It was such combined scholastic and extracurricular activities as these that generated the rousing spirit which motivated the active 1962 class.

In September a confident sophomore class entered Scott High School, anticipating a successful school year. Under the direction of Mrs. Sisler and Mr. Rayford, they began the year with the very successful Freshman-Sophomore Dance of September 16. Singing, dancing, and games provided lively entertainment for all those who attended. On October 26, the sophomores staged a song fest, in which their enthusiasm for class unity encouraged active participation by all interested Scotters.

The sophomores serenaded the queen and her court during the half-time program of the traditional Thanksgiving Day game, and provided a joyous mood for the 2,000 students and alumni.

Through these various activities the sophomore class gained the confidence necessary for their successful year.

Elgie Summers and Robbie Sims use the primary tool of science — curiosity.

Freshman Spirit Replaces Bewilderment

On September 6, 1960, the largest freshman class in Scott history entered high school, bewildered by the strange faces they saw. The first few days were a maze of new and exciting experiences.

They soon proved themselves to be an enthusiastic as well as spirited group of students. The freshman class led the school in salesmanship as they participated in their first project, the annual magazine sale. Under the capable direction of Mr. Frank Nagy, they became one of the top freshman classes ever enrolled at Scott.

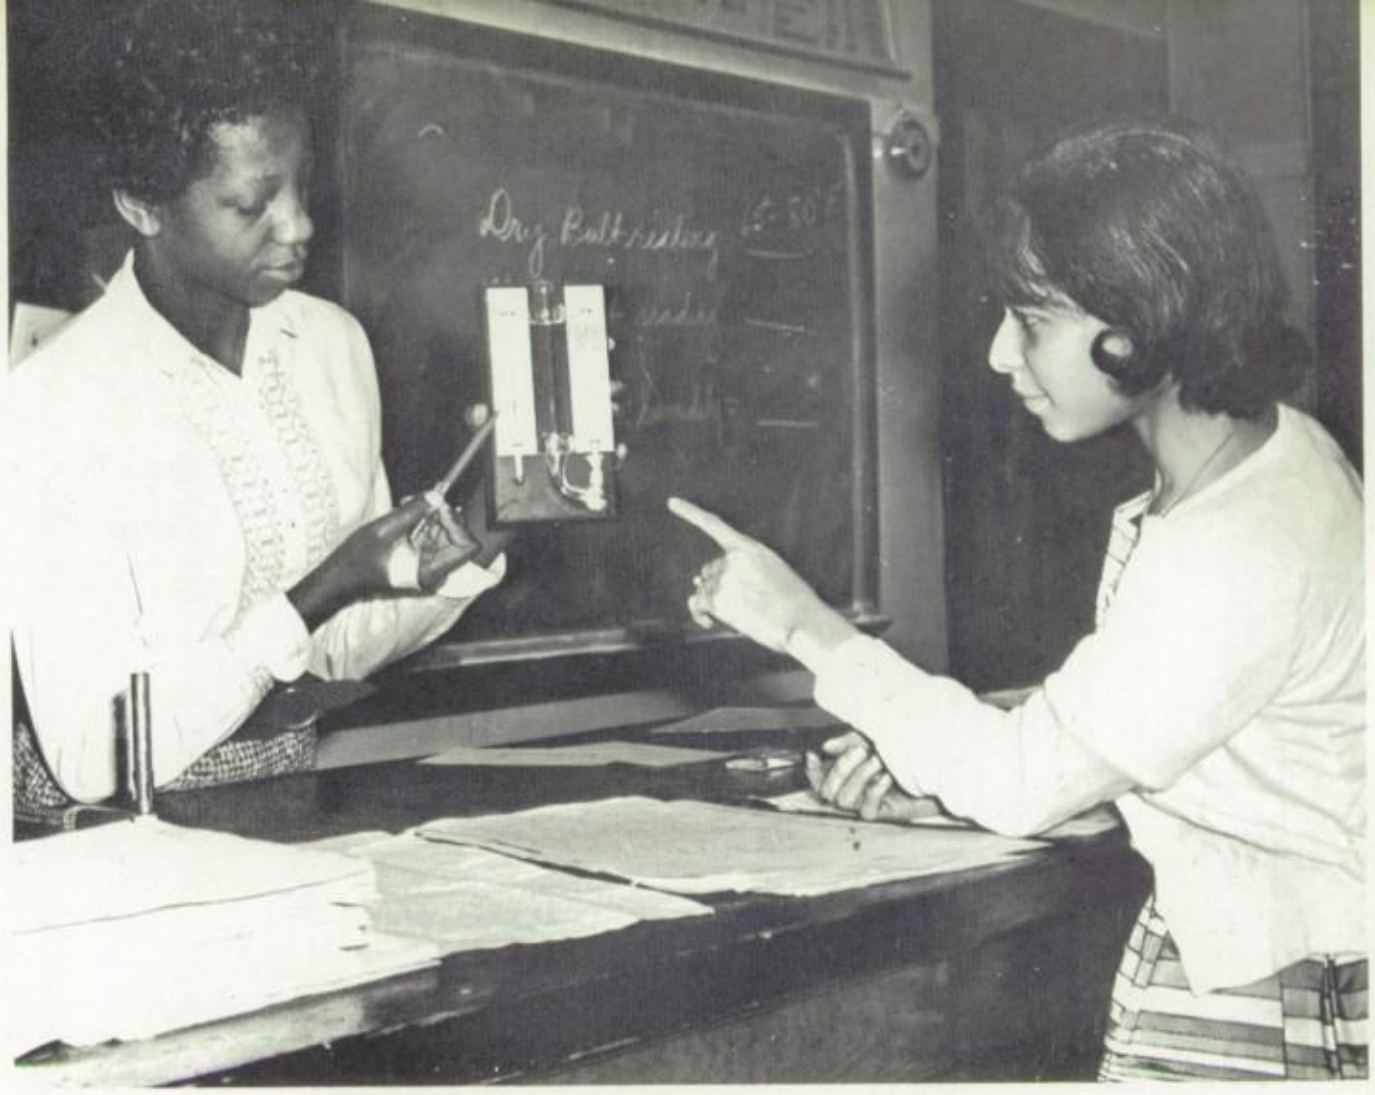
As a part of their orientation program, freshmen gather information for their floor plans of Scott.

Various Activities Help to Orient Freshmen at Scott

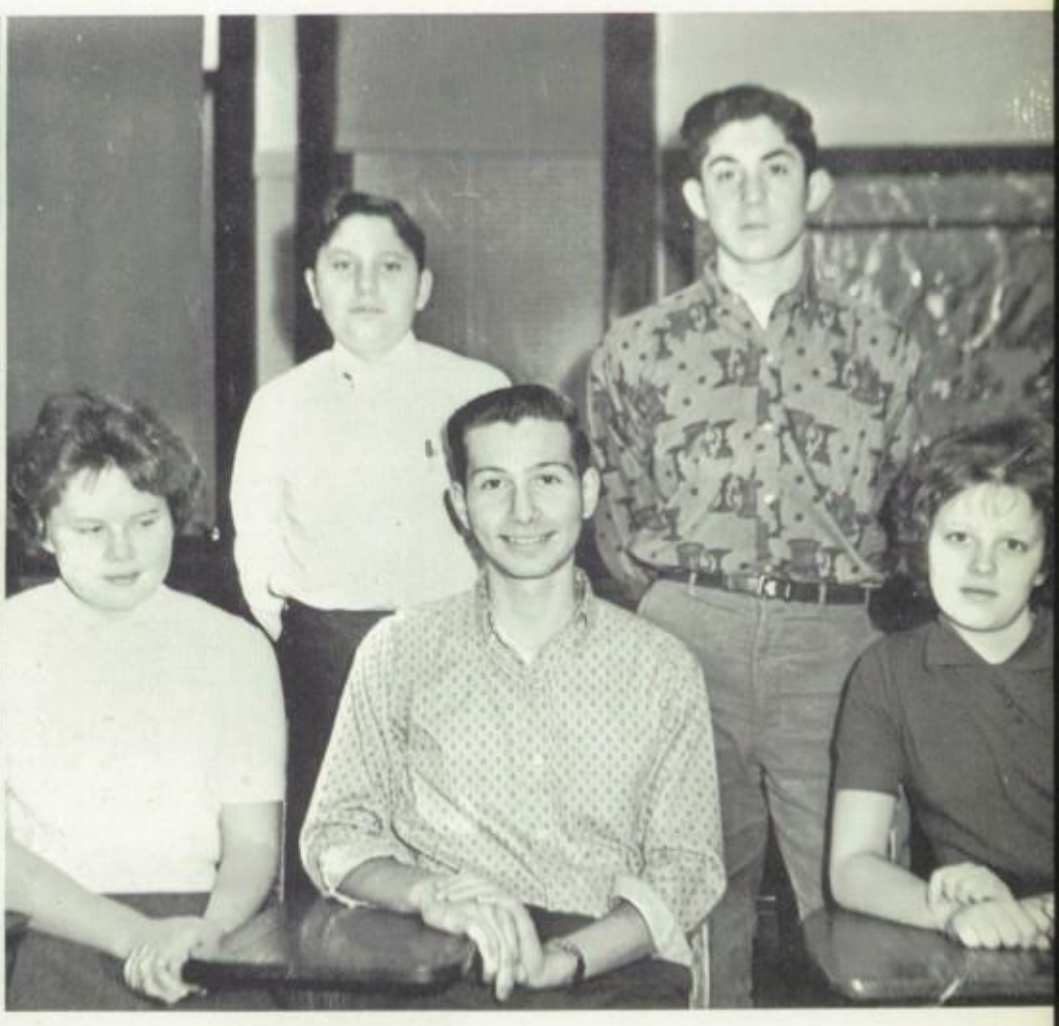
Mr. Langstaff encourages incoming freshmen to make the most of their high school career at an assembly held for them on Freshman Day.



Mary Alice Smith and Evelyn Greenwade discover the many uses of the barometer in Mr. Croll's general science class.

Feilbach High School students show their interest in the most recent edition of the SCOTTONIAN.

Nathan Geisler, Gary Petler, Dawn McConnell, Allan Rappaport, and Barbara Bronikowski received national recognition for their poetry and essays.



Claudia Miller and Betty Rosebrock sell SCOTTONIAN underclass pictures to eager freshmen.

John Loo, chairman of the magazine drive, presents Dawn McConnell with an award which she received for being the top magazine salesman.

Freshmen Become Part of the Scott Family

Former SCOTTONIAN editor Arnold Shugarman speaks to freshmen in Mr. Nauts's orientation class about college careers.

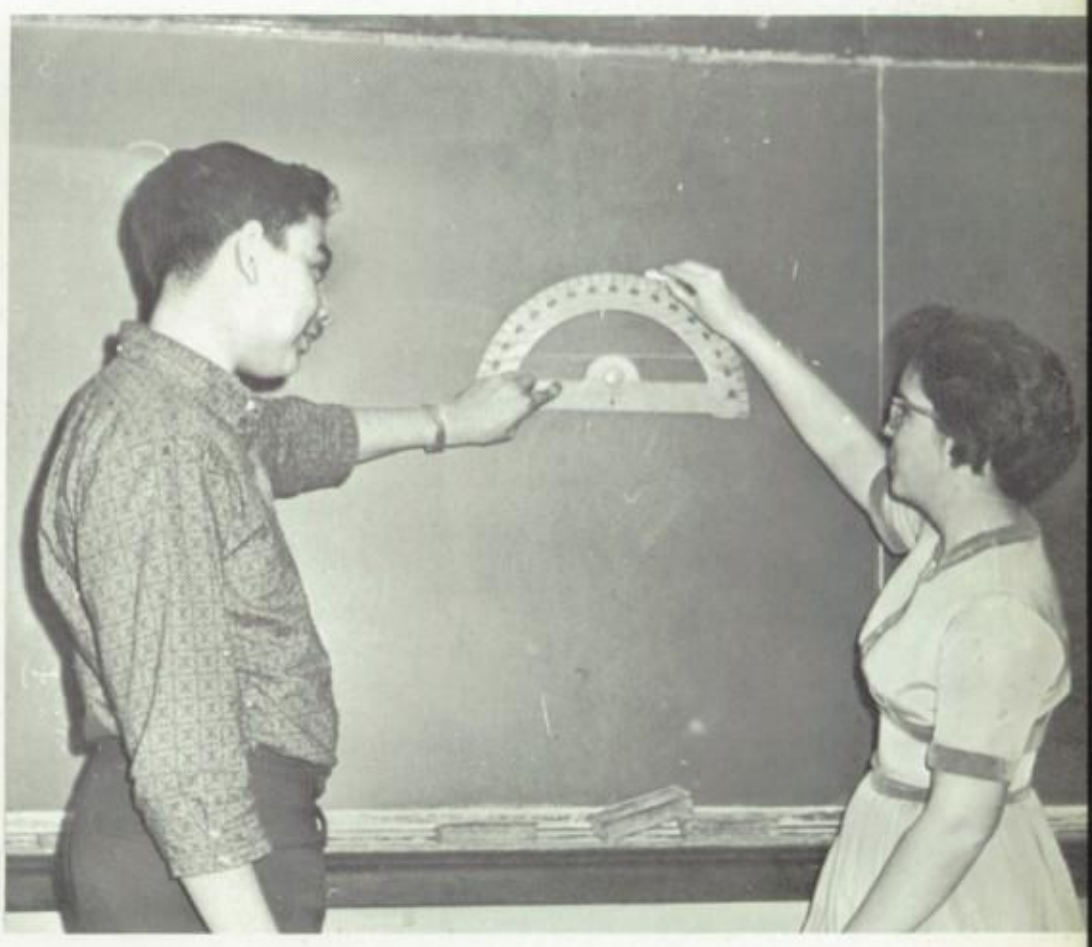
Glenda Corbitt, president, brings up new business for the Sophomore Class Council to discuss.

Shari Spaman and Janice Johnson try to tackle one of the first big problems of a freshman — opening the locker.

Underclassmen Combine Learning with Activities

Freshmen Jo-Ann Hohenberger and Jay Miller get their first look at the card catalogue in the Scott library as a part of their orientation program.

Thea Blankley and Michael Fisher learn to use the protractor correctly in Miss Rottenstein's algebra class.



Claudia Miller, Junior Prom queen, and her attendants, Faye Slaughter and Barbara Hohenberger, reign at An "Evening in Paradise."

Juniors Enjoy "An Evening in Paradise"

On February 18, 1961, Scott Field House became a tropical island scene where the Junior Class presented "An Evening in Paradise." A tearful but radiant smile lighted the face of Claudia Miller as she was crowned queen of the Junior Prom. Well-wishers looked on as the queen, joined by her lovely attendants, Barbara Hohenberger and Faye Slaughter, danced to the dedication song, "Stranger in Paradise." Romantic music, provided by Charles McDaniels's Band, moved the couples to join the beautiful queen and her attendants in capturing the enchanting mood that prevailed throughout the successful Junior Prom. Reluctantly the couples departed, never to forget their "Evening in Paradise."

Tania Flick and John Loo cast their ballots for Junior Prom queen.

Juniors Claudia Miller and Mary Kuhnle drum up more business for the Junior Prom as Steve Jepson buys his bid.

Junior Class committee members make tentative plans for the Junior Prom.

Scotters enjoy themselves as they dance to the music of Charles McDaniels's Band.

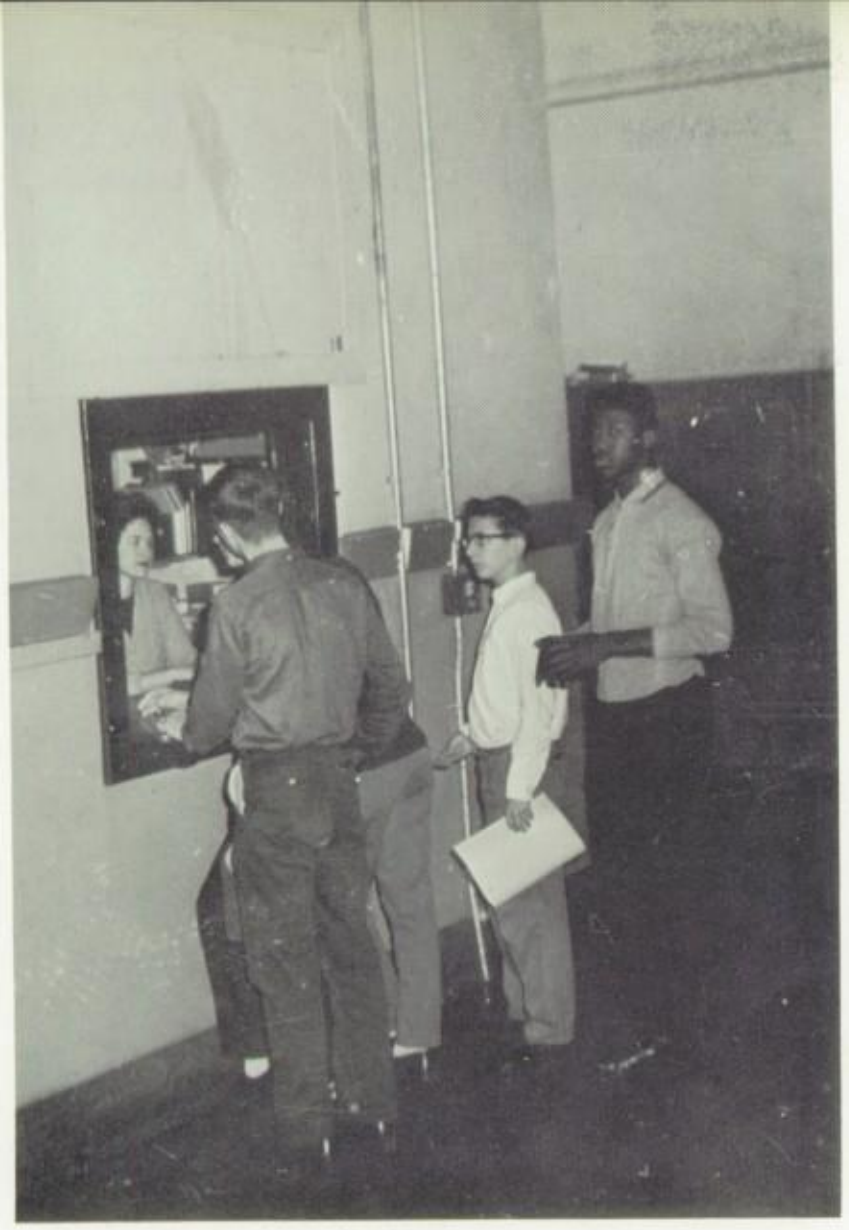
Helga Zahn and John Loo enjoy ice-cold punch served by Mr. and Mrs. Gerson Korngut.

Homeroom representatives purchase THISTLES for their homerooms.

Mrs. Virginia Hull assists Roberta Wright and Johnnie May Straugh as they make use of the Scott library.

Scotters Participate in All Phases of School

The second-floor trophy case becomes spotless as the Sophomore Y-Teens complete their efforts.



Scotters gather at the stationer's desk to purchase last-minute supplies.

Paul Hague, Janice Hackley, and Charles Huston stand in line to buy their lunch in the Scott cafeteria.

An exhibition in Mrs. Eby's biology class displays the first semester accomplishments of sophomore biology students.

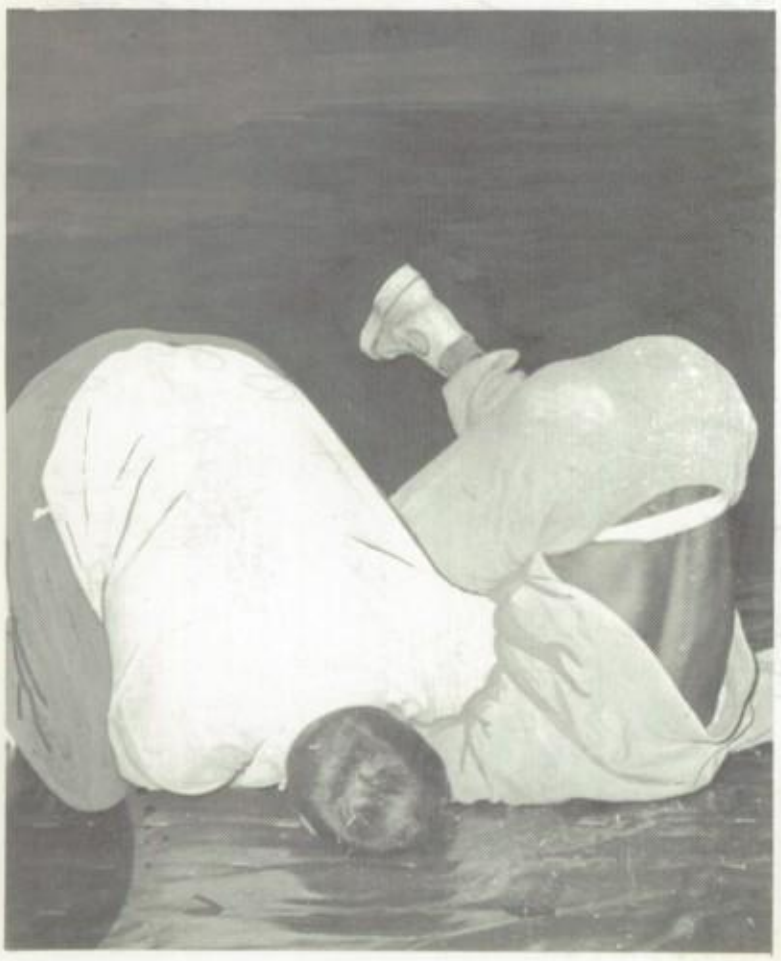
Members of the THISTLE staff, Bob McKinley and Jerry Sanders, prepare a decorative bulletin board to keep Scotters well-informed.

Mike McWhorter assumes a precarious position in his effort to take an effective aerial shot of the activities on Visitation Day for eighth graders.

As they served Scott in various ways, teachers and students were often caught by the photographer. SCOTTONIAN photographer Mike McWhorter recorded the visit of eighth graders on March 8 and was in turn "shot" in the act. Before the camera eye left the campus to shoot the P.T.A. Art and Hobby show at Woodward, it stopped to capture the pictures of two new teachers. Thus such pictures of the camera roving eye added another chapter to the never-ending story of Scott High School.

The Roving Camera Catches Scotters in Action

Mr. Machoukas demonstrates a method of pinning an opponent in wrestling.

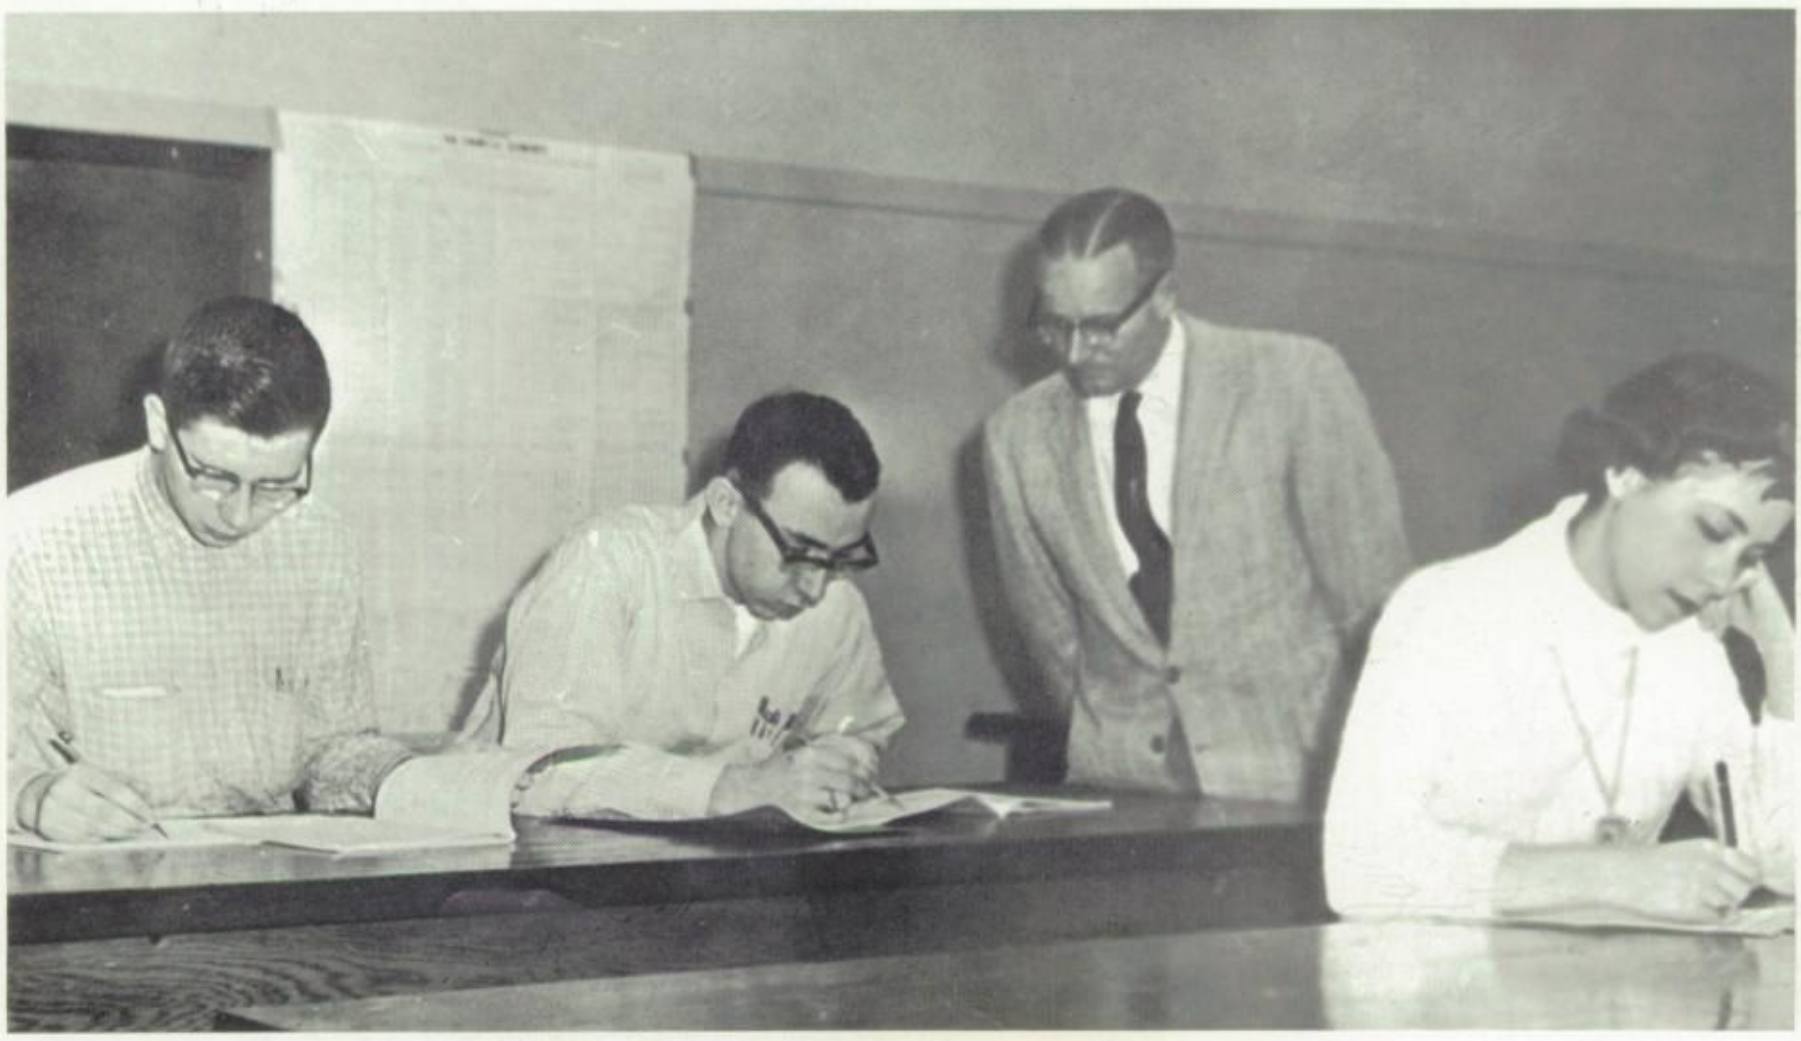


Senior boys illustrate ring hockey techniques for prospective freshmen.

Mrs. Valencia discusses the use of the new vending machines with Mrs. Eby.

Mrs. Arnold proudly smiles as she arranges the collar of Diann Smith's suit at city-wide P.T.A. Art and Hobby Show.

The experience of working together on various projects transmitted the enthusiasm of the members of each class into a unified working spirit, serving both the welfare of Scott and the welfare of each class. This same spirit was effectively channeled into academic efforts by Scott teachers, who strove to make the pursuit of knowledge interesting and challenging. By providing effective guidance in the classrooms, and by encouraging students to attempt individual projects, teachers presented stimulating incentives for working toward ever-increasing goals.



To Mickey

Well Nick, another year has gone by & I'm writing and seeing you radiant personality. Through the years I have grown to know you and your family very well and I think I'm very very lucky to have such a good thing going. I wish you the best of luck in golf game and if there is ever anything I can do for you, whether now or later in life, please feel free to come to me anytime at all. I know that you will succeed in anything you endeavor to do, but a wish you all the luck in the world anyway.

Let's get together more and I know with the remaining year we have left, we can have some good times. Best of luck

Always, Your real friend,

Mike Vince

The highest function of the teacher consists not so much in importing knowledge as in stimulating the pupil in its love and pursuit.

INSTRUCTIONAL

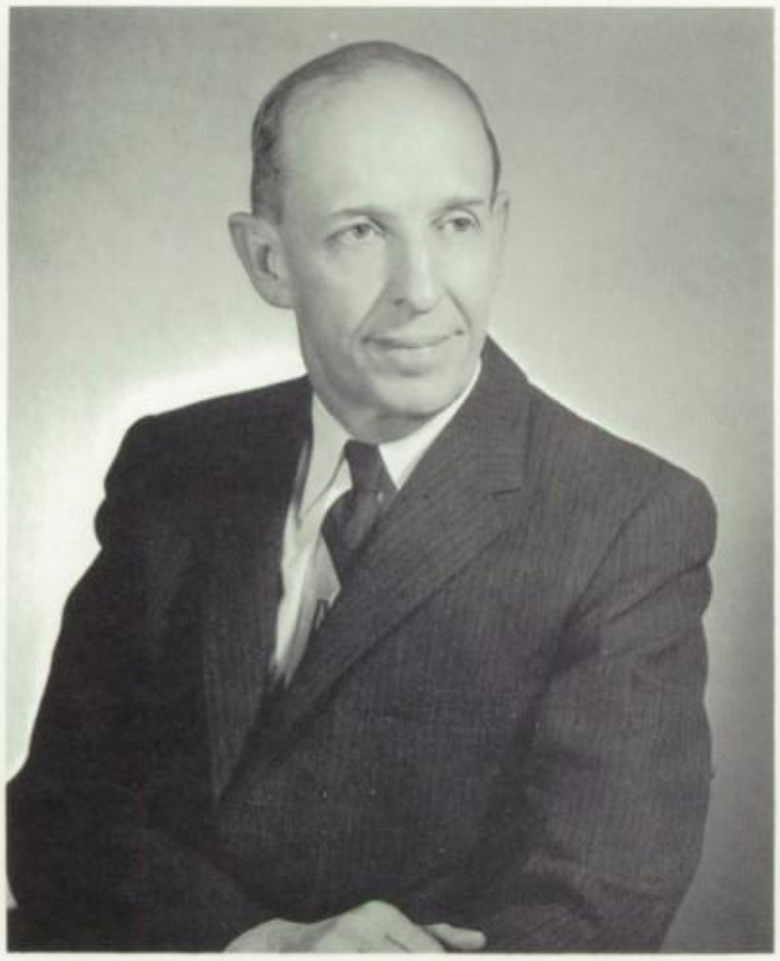
Mr. Philo Dunsmore

Those of you who are completing your education at Scott High School can be proud of this achievement. But it is too early for you to stop your preparation. The modern exacting scientific world needs people with all faculties developed to the highest degree. I congratulate you for having reached this level of preparation and urge you to continue your studies in a college, a school of business education, or in any other way that will help you to make a greater contribution to your fellow men. — Superintendent Philo C. Dunsmore.

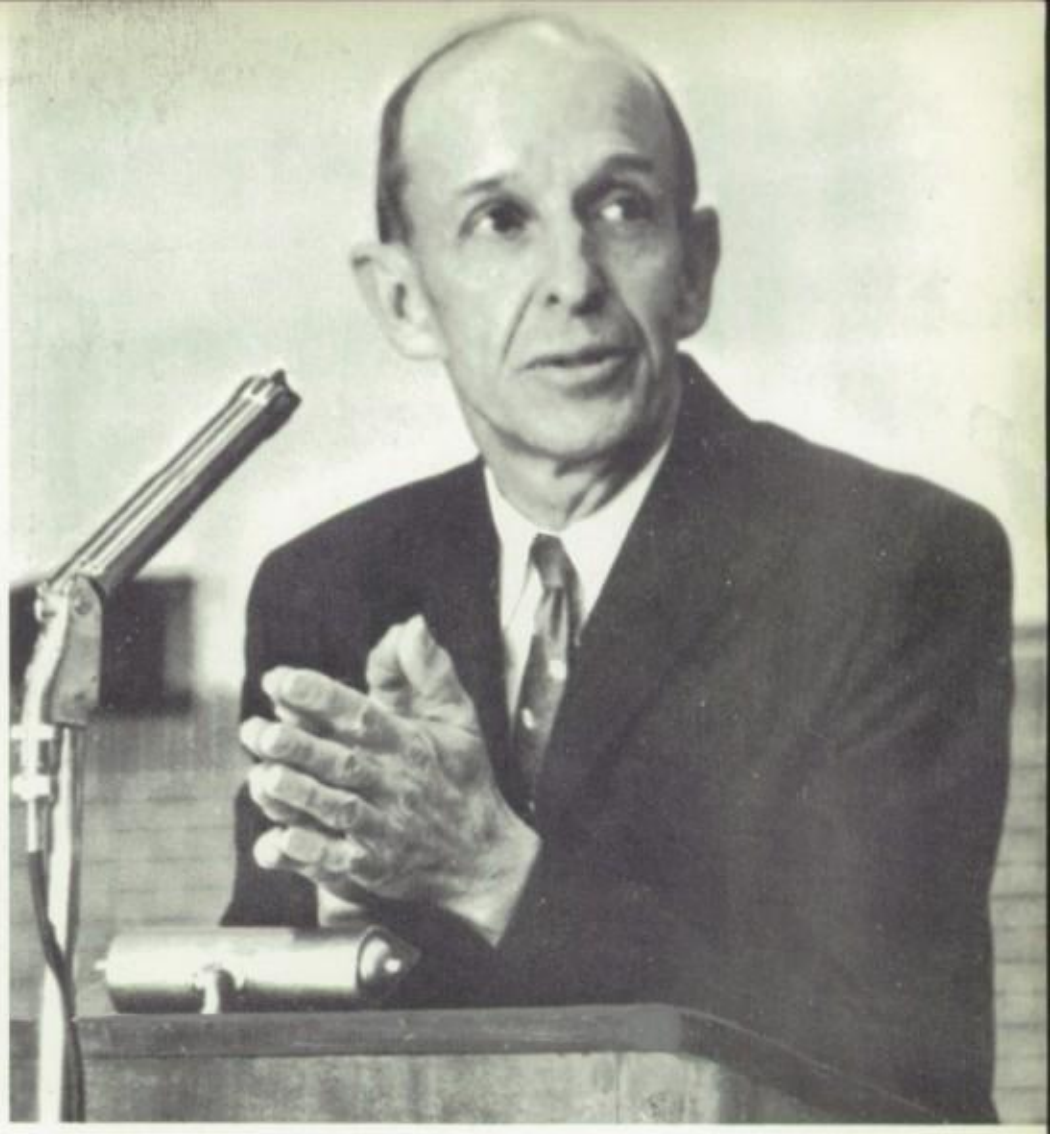
We Receive Sound Advice, Loyal Support

The Scott High School Parent Teacher Association, led by Mrs. Franklin Shore, president, undertook many projects to aid the school, such as planning "school information night" in October and Scott "open house" on November 16, promoting the single levy for the schools, and chartering a bus to take Scott students to Bowling Green University for the state scholarship final tests. Other officers were first vice-president, Mrs. Irving Glassman; second vice-president, Miss Wilma Kudzia; secretary, Mrs. Twyman Traynum; treasurer, Mrs. Leon Frankel; and the faculty advisers, Mr. R. J. Langstaff, Miss Vera Baymiller, and Mrs. L. D. Stewart.

"Here are five more." Mrs. Hinr, Mrs. Shore, and Mrs. Ginsburg take money and names in Scott's annual P.T.A. membership drive.



Mr. Richard J. Langstaff



Mr. Langstaff is a study of character as he speaks to the student body during the recognition assembly.

Mr. R. J. Langstaff, the principal of Scott High School, is a man of humble nature whose forceful character is concealed by a quiet, mild manner. His inspiring talks to students occur rarely, yet unfailingly by their calm, but reassuring strength, his words enlighten the darkest mind and encourage the weakest heart. From his broad knowledge of what makes an educated person, he creates the theme for study for the school year.

Architects of Scott Life Are Inspiring Symbol

Planning and directing the instructional and extra-curricular programs for the school year were the particular assignments of two aids to Mr. Langstaff, Miss Vera Baymiller, assistant principal in instruction, and Miss Wilma Kudzia, assistant principal in activities. To direct distribution of instructional equipment to the many departments, co-ordinate teaching programs, assist new teachers and substitute teachers was Miss Baymiller's work. Miss Kudzia's direction of student activities provided a co-ordinated program of assemblies, organizations, and all-school projects that offered students diversions outside the classroom.

Miss Wilma Kudzia and Miss Vera Baymiller check schedules of films for classroom study.

Mr. Carson, Mrs. Conwell, Mr. Alberstett, and Miss Petersen relax and laugh at some of the humorous incidents of the day.

Counselors Become Our "Parents at School"

A student checks a last-minute schedule change with Miss Petersen.

The student guidance program for Scott was headed by Miss Florence Petersen, assistant principal and counselor of girls, and Mr. Vernon Alberstett, assistant principal and counselor of boys. Their assistants were Mrs. Kathleen Conwell and Mr. Robert Carson.

The main task of the counselors was to work with students and advise them in planning all areas of activities. They also worked with teachers to help adjust the students to the classroom. Although they gave attention primarily to attendance and discipline problems, the counselors also helped students plan their educational and vocational programs as well as solve many personal problems.

Office Staff Makes Our School Clock Tick

As the school year began, the office staff was well prepared to meet it. There was never a free moment for Mrs. Marion Masell and her assistants as they supplied the faculty with the information requested. The staff included Mrs. Masell, office co-ordinator and secretary to Mr. R. J. Langstaff; Mrs. Margaret Husbands, school treasurer; Mrs. Virginia Hull, library assistant; Mrs. Mildred Evans, book clerk; Mrs. Betty Taylor, record clerk; and Mrs. Lydia Gilhooley and Mrs. Grace Johnson, the two counselor clerks.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Gilhooley, counselor clerks, follow their daily routine as they compile an absence list for Mr. Carson.

To meet the great demand of the age for individual language proficiency, the English and Foreign Language Department provided Scott students an experience curriculum in reading, composition, and usage techniques. Study and practice helped them to strengthen skills and acquire language facility and knowledge of the communicative arts. By reading literature of their own country, England, France, Spain, and the Romans, language students built cultural backgrounds that broadened their understanding of the principles and customs by which men live near and far.

Social Studies Provide Witness to the Times

A new syllabus for correlated instruction in American history and government, developed by two Scott social studies teachers, Mr. Robert McCollum, department chairman, and Mr. Albert Dyckes, was introduced in the eleventh grade of Toledo public schools this year. The program combined the two separate half-year courses, thus improving instruction by eliminating duplication and expanding the offerings in other social science fields.

Creative Arts Transform Thought into Reality

Creative expression through media other than words was the aim for achievement in some subject fields of study. Students of music learned to create harmony by voice and musical instrument. Art students employed oils and water colors to create design and picture. Members of the industrial arts department applied their trained skills to metals and woods to construct useful and eye-appealing household articles. Especially fortunate were the home economics students, happy in their beautifully remodeled and newly equipped laboratory, as they worked with foods to prepare tasty dishes and with fabrics to fashion attractive costumes.

Business Is Preparation for Future Leadership

The two major objectives of the business department were general business education for all students and preparation of some students for vocational competence in business occupations. Sports Add Healthful Zest to Curriculum

The physical education programs provided the physical activity essential to growing teen-agers. Tumbling, soccer, and chin-ups helped boys to develop strength, alertness, and muscular co-ordination. Labor Force Merits "Well Done" Citation

The maintenance of the school plant was accomplished by a staff of diligent workers seldom seen by students — the engineers, cafeteria dietitians, and the custodian. The engineers were Scott's "early risers," often arriving as early as four a.m. to assure students a properly heated and ventilated atmosphere in which to work. Only a short time later arrived the cafeteria staff to prepare nutritious meals by 11:07 when the "first lunchers" charged up to the fourth floor for the twenty-three minute lunch break. Throughout the day and far into the night the custodial staff quietly followed the routine required to keep the plant clean and pleasant. All these unsung workers served Scott well.

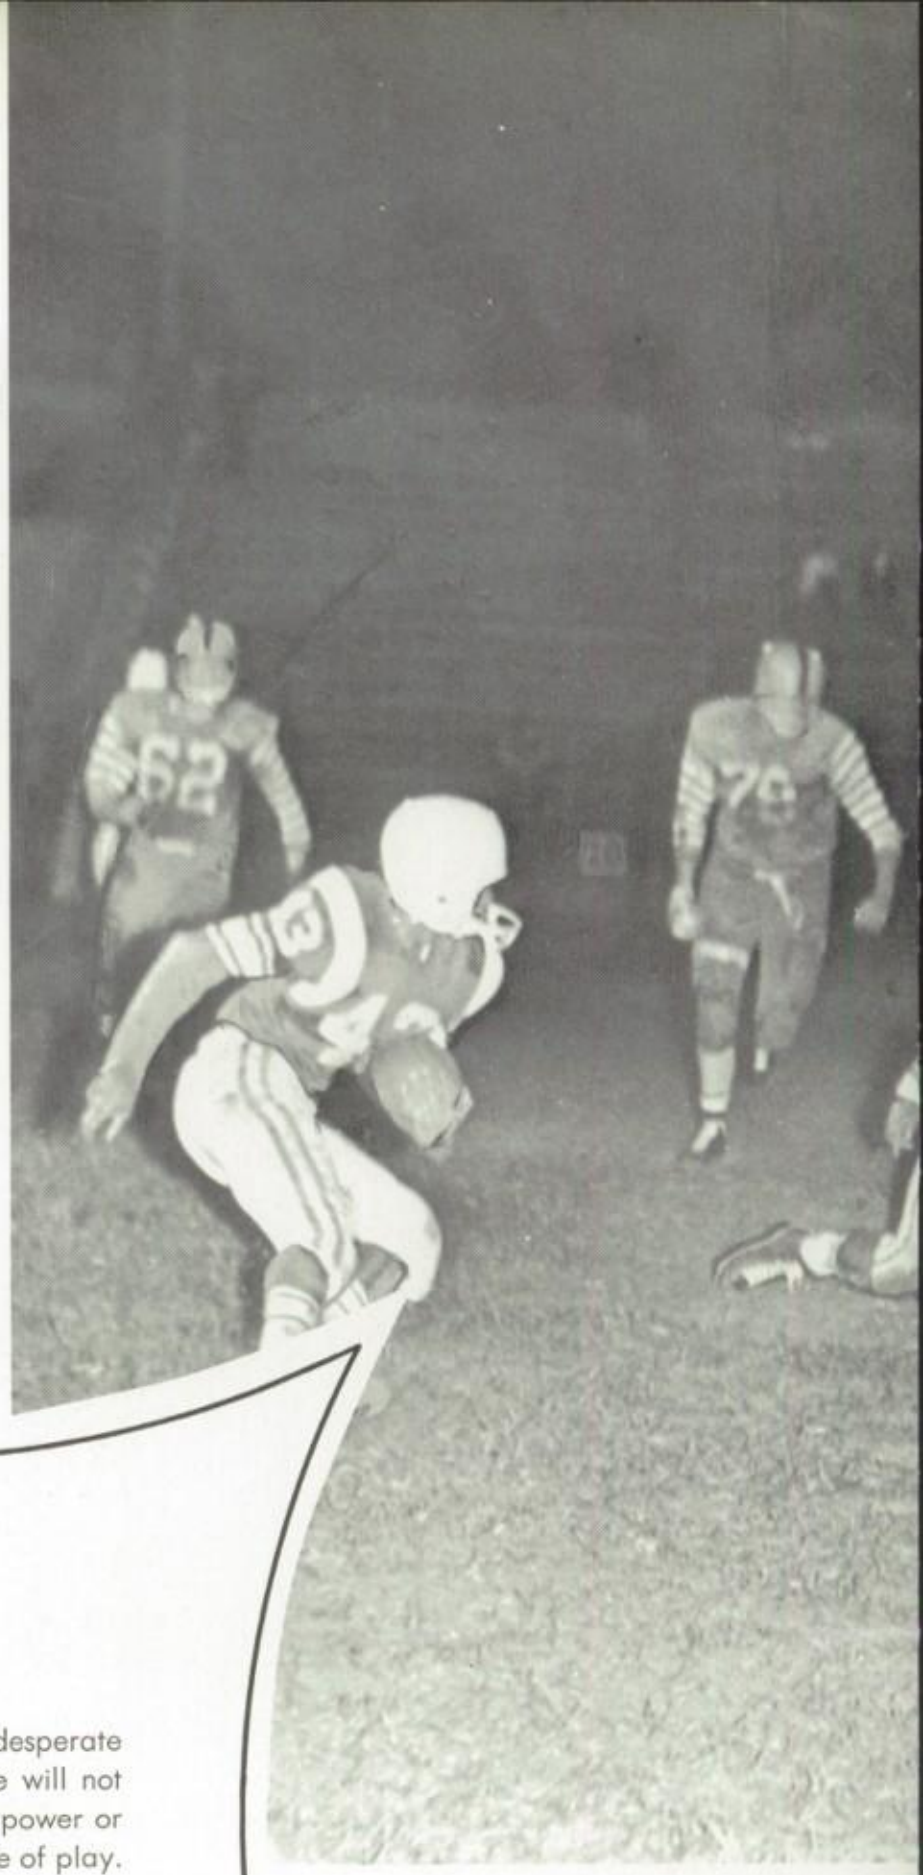
In the classrooms, teachers inspired students to pursue knowledge with enthusiasm, but students learned far more in school than subject matter. Each student learned to live with himself and his fellow man. However, this pursuit of knowledge and maturity had to be balanced, and once again teachers worked with students, this time to develop sound bodies. Everyone soon found that the physical outlet provided by sports generated an eager and more alert return to study.



There's no game so desperate that the wisest of the wise will not take up freely for love of power or love of fame or merely love of play.

Varsity Fights Valiantly Despite Many Injuries

The 1960 Scott varsity football team was ready for action when the season opened. After losing to state-rated Canton McKinley by only two points, Scott went on to defeat Findlay 12—0. In the Findlay game Scott end, Steve McGee, scored in the first quarter on a punt return. Later in the first half, Sam Price, halfback, pulled his way over the goal line for six more points. In Scott's next two encounters they were held scoreless but came roaring back to upset St. Francis, also rated high in the state. It was in this game that Sam Price, dubbed "Priceless Price" by the TOLEDO BLADE, gave one of his finest performances of the season. His run of 39 yards was the game-winning touchdown as Scott came out on top, 6—0. In the following contest the City League champs, Central, surprised the high-spirited Bulldogs by defeating them 30—12. The next week Scott traveled to Marion to face Marion Harding, ranked fifth in the state. Scott lost 28—0. In the next three encounters with Libbey, Woodward, and Fremont, Scott suffered losses. Scott finished the season with a 2—9 record.

Scott left end, Alphonso Taylor, is tripped up after breaking through the middle of the Central line. Although Scott lost this game to the "Fighting Irish," Don Baker scored twice for the Bulldogs.

Although Scott opened the season with one of the best teams in the city, injuries to the first string early in the season undermined Scott's hopes for the City League championship. Right halfback Sam Price, thought to be one of the best backs in the state, was permanently side-lined early in the season by a broken collarbone. Before the season began, another swift halfback, Allen Smith, was put out of action by an injured knee.

In his sixth year as Scott's head football coach, Everett "Bud" Dean made the 1960 season a profitable one. He was ably assisted by George Machoukas. As line coach, Mr. Machoukas made the defensive and offensive lines the strong points of the team. Backfield coach, Richard Knisely, worked diligently with the hard-hitting backfield.

Scott had two players in the first team All-City selections: Steve McGee and Dave Bethany.

A St. Francis halfback slips behind blocker Gerald Hutchens to tackle Don Baker after a short gain.

Scott is Edged by Traditional Rivals

The largest football crowd of the season filled Scott Stadium for the Thanksgiving Day Scott-Waite game. Although the meeting was not one of Scott's better games of the 1960 season, statistics show that Scott out-passed Waite 102 yards to 14 yards. Waite scored first as the Indian halfback carried the ball for six points. The Bulldogs drove deep into Indian territory on several occasions, but never succeeded in moving the ball into the end zone. The half-time score stayed at 8—0. Late in the game Ralph Bailey, Scott quarterback, electrified the crowd with a perfect 74 yard pass play to Robert Johnson. Waite still held the lead 8—6. The Indians scoring the last six points, the game ended with a score of 16—6 in favor of Waite. Dave Bethany, a TOLEDO BLADE All-City tackle, halfbacks Don Baker and Robert Johnson, and Ralph Bailey, quarterback, were an invaluable credit to the Green and White.

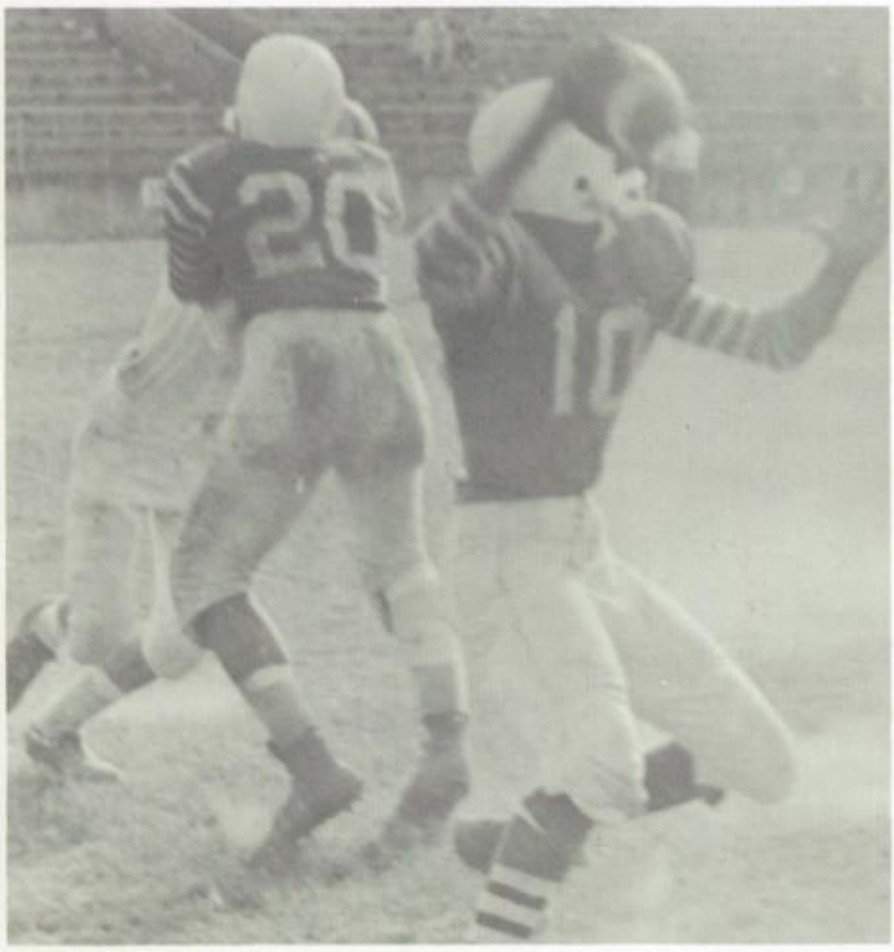
Lightweights Battle to Third Place Finish

The Scott quarterback fires a pass as Richard Crayon delivers a key block.



The Scott lightweights had a fairly successful 1960 season. They compiled a two win, four loss, and one tie record, good for 3rd place in the City League. The J.V.'s showed progressive improvement throughout the season. After losing the first two games, they rallied to shut out Central Catholic and tie Macomber Vocational in two successive games. A loss to Libbey was followed by a well-earned victory over the Indians of Waite. Although most of the boys worked hard and showed great desire to win, Coach John Patroulis named Jim Hudson, quarterback, Don Allen, middle guard, Milton Hunt, Richard Crayon, guard, and Arthur Welch, end, as the players who contributed the most toward the lightweights' success.

Yearlings Lack Polish; Fare Poorly

Although only thirty boys reported for the start of the freshman football season, the Bulldog pups hoped for success. The Scott freshmen, for the most part playing their first year of organized football, found it difficult to play other high school freshmen because all elementary districts except Scott had maintained football leagues in grade school. They suffered six straight defeats to finish seventh in the city league; nevertheless, the freshmen gained experience for play as lightweights in their second year of football.

The American League bowling team got off to a poor start, losing six of its first eight matches. Later in the season, however, the keglers showed marked improvement by winning six straight matches. They finished the season in eighth place with a 17 won and 37 loss record. Dave Bender's 219 pins was the high game for the season, and high series honors went to Nathan Sanders who tallied 592 pins.

The National League bowling team faired poorly at the outset of the season. Although they continued to lose most of their matches, the National League keglers improved with every game. Under the skillful coaching of Mr. Norman Holland, the team ended the season by winning eight out of their last ten matches. This gain, however, did not improve their league standing, as they finished in tenth place with a 12 won and 42 lost record. Bob Turvey was credited with having the high series of 576 pins, while Bruce Clark had the high game of 211.

Jim Church, Dave Hoover, and Don Grentzel put on an extra burst of speed to overtake an opponent in a match at Ottawa Park.

The 1960 Cross Country team turned in a commendable performance for its second-season achievement in the sport at Scott.

Their 2 won and 4 loss record earned them a third place finish in the City League. The team edged Waite in their opening meet and outran Central by twelve points for their two victories of the season. In the Northwestern Ohio District meet at Lima, the Bulldogs finished eighteenth. Harrier letter winners included Norman Willians, Bob Richards, Jim Barton, and Jim Church.

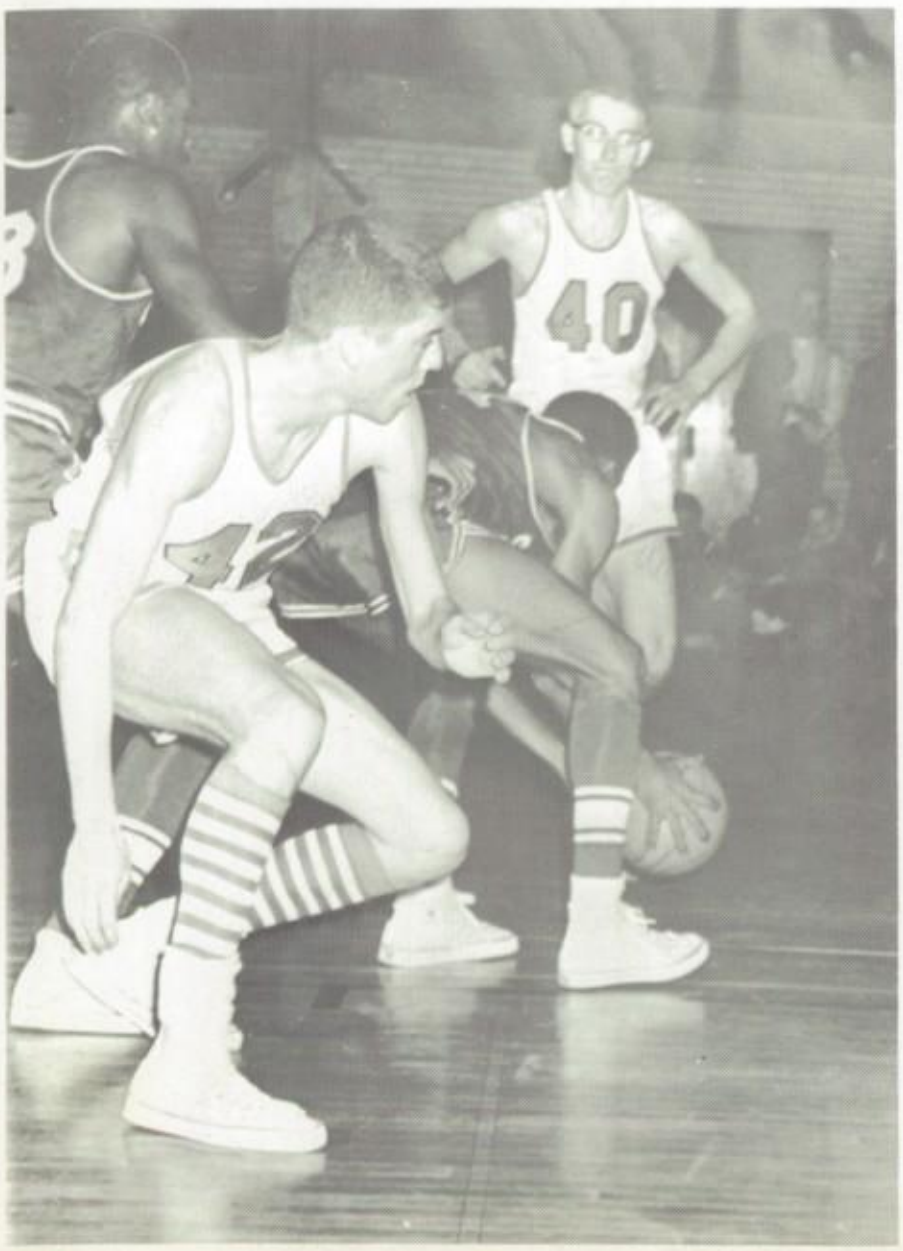
Varsity Rallies to Finish Fourth



After opening the season with consecutive losses to Defiance, Macomber, and Libbey, the 1961 Scott varsity basketball team rallied to win four of their next six games. The high point of this streak was their winning of the Christmas Carnival held at Napoleon, Ohio. The Red and White then went into a serious slump and lost five games in a row before finally hanging up another victory, this time over the St. Francis Knights. In one of their finest games of the season, the varsity lost an exciting 59—55 game to an excellent Central squad. By a twenty-point thumping of Woodward and a well-played one-point victory over Devilbiss, the Bulldogs then climaxed their season with a fourth place City League finish. The leading scorer on the squad was Jim Jackson, a senior. He was followed by Jasper Wiggins and George Newton, a freshman picked by many for future stardom.

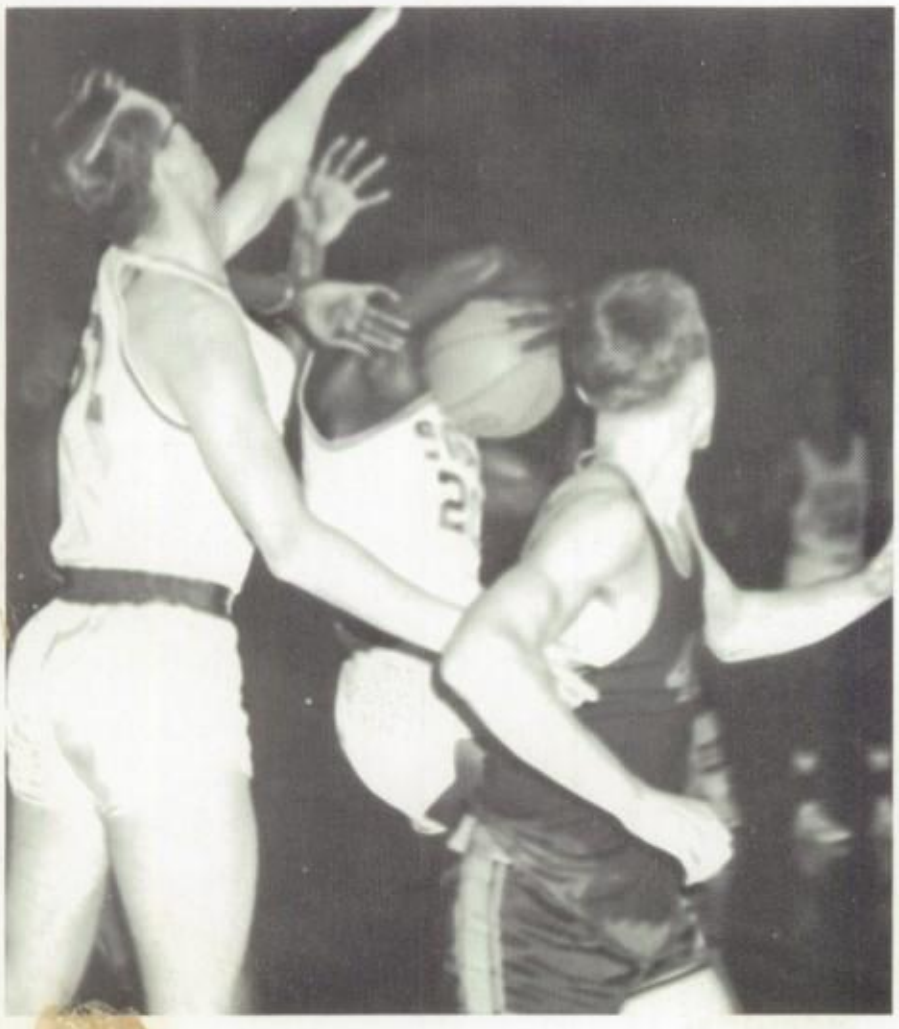
Tournament Hopes Diminish Early



The Scott Bulldogs closed their 1960-61 basketball season at Rossford High School Field House in their one Sectional Tournament game against a rugged Libbey squad who had beat Scott twice during the regular season. The Bulldogs matched Libbey fairly well in the first half and were down only five points at half time. But when the two teams returned to action, Libbey took advantage of Scott's cold shooting performance and turned them back, 49—26. This marked the first time in six years that Scott has not won the Sectional championship. The game had a sentimental value for Ted Adams, Steve McGee, Jimmy Jackson, Dave Sanders, and Curtis Hopkins, in that it was the last basketball game of their high school careers. Mike Vince, Ernie Woods, Celester Barnes, Jasper Wiggins, and Clarence Hogue, all juniors, saw action in the last half.

Mike Vince and Al Taylor fight under the boards with a Libbey player for a rebound.

The 1960-61 Scott basketball lightweights recorded a satisfactory season, winding up with a 5 won 10 loss record, good for fourth place in the City League. The squad had some excellent guards, but they lacked the height to control the boards. The boys did a commendable job, losing several games in the final seconds. Gus Nicolaidis was high scorer; Theron Pride, second; James Hudson, third. Mr. Poth awarded Gus a trophy for the best free throw percentage.

Under the fine coaching of Mr. Richard Knisely, the Bulldog pups battled their way to an 8 won 5 loss record in City League competition. Although they somewhat lacked natural ability, their rebounding and defensive play combined with determination helped them to finish second in the league. High scorer was Oscar Ellis, who along with Bill Thomas was moved up to lightweights at the end of the season. Other outstanding players were Darryl Lycourt, Dennis Belcher, and Pat McGraw, who was named most improved player on the team.

Grapplers Victorious in Three Matches

With only twenty-five boys on the squad, the Scott wrestling team compiled a 3 won 6 loss record for the season. This earned them a sixth place City League finish. The outstanding wrestler of the season was Sam Price who won five matches during the regular season and suffered no defeats. Other boys who displayed great ability included Glen Washington and James Barton. In the district meet held at Rogers High School, the grapplers scored 28 points, good for fifth place

Cinderburners Maintain Their Good Record

Under the fine coaching of Mr. Art Edwards and his assistant, Mr. Orton Ryan, the 1960 Scott track team finished the season in third place in the City League. The excellent track record of four wins and two losses was due largely to the efforts of Odell Barry and Arnold Shugarman, who were co-captains, Sam Price, Perry Stubblefield, and Allen Smith. In May the trackmen placed second to Libbey in the annual DeVilbiss Night Relays and third in the district meet at Lima. Later in May, in the state meet held on the campus of Ohio State University, Allen Smith placed second in the broad jump with an outstanding leap of twenty-three feet.

Golf Team Suffers from Inexperience

During the 1960 season the school golf team, coached by Mr. Glen Lake, displayed exuberant spirit. Although the team entered every match with a desire to win, they finished the season with a 1—6 record. The scoring was consistent with the exception of that of Mickey Rosenberg, who had a slight edge over his teammates.

Racketmen Compile Impressive Record

The Scott tennis team of 1960, under the qualified leadership of the new coach, Mr. John Poth, volleyed their way to a very successful season. By compiling a four win and two loss record, the netmen tied the Central squad for second place in the City League standings. Their two losses were a 2—3 edging by Waite and 5—0 defeat at the hands of DeVilbiss. Ronald Bilchik, Gary Crawford, Hoover Liddell, Steve McLaughlin, Dale Williams, and Rich Penwell received varsity letters for their excellent play during the entire season.

Bulldogs Brave Brow-Beating Battles

Undauntedly, the 1960 Scott baseball team started their season with a 7—6 victory against a strong Macomber team. Although the majority of the starters were sophomores and the pitchers were inexperienced, Coach George Machoukas felt that what the team lacked in ability they compensated for in spirit and a sincere desire to win. Scott finished eighth in the City League with a 2—14 record.

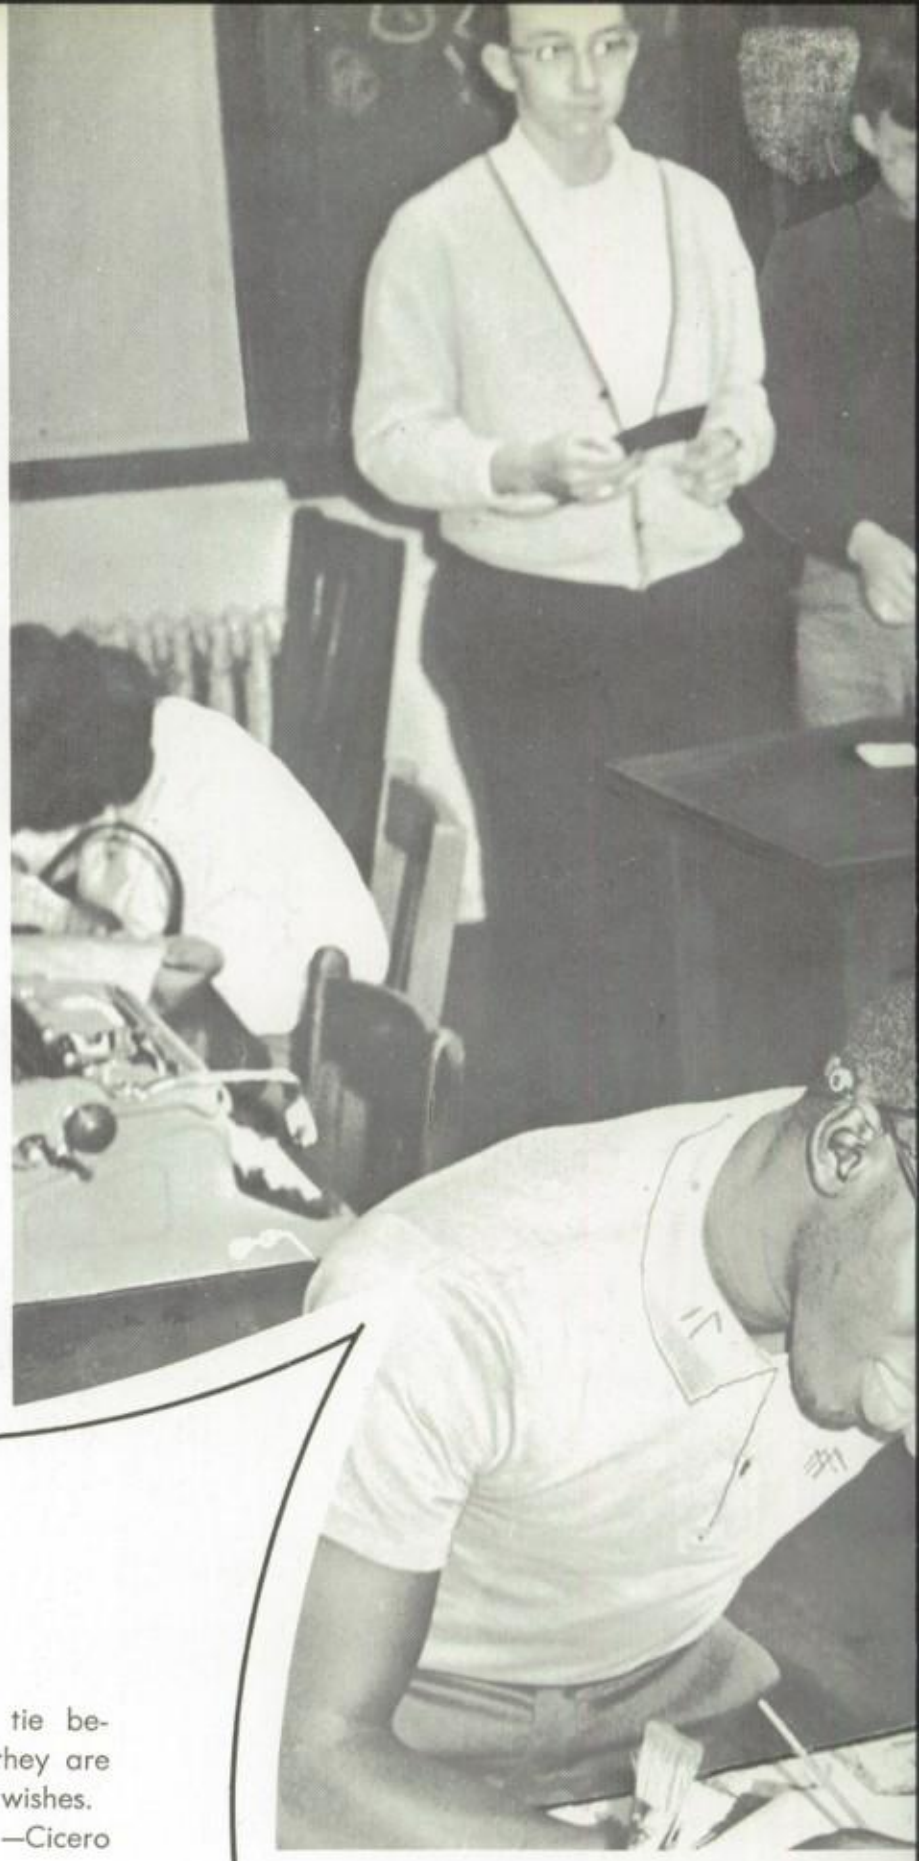
Students derived many values from their active participation in school sports. They learned various exercises which helped them to improve their muscular co-ordination, and such exercises helped Scott teams to endure the test of the game. But the unity of each team, acquired through a common interest, a common goal, and good organization, was strengthened by the bonds of friendship.



There is no more sure tie between friends than when they are united in their objects and wishes.

Honor Society Encourages Scholarship

Throughout the year twelve members of the Scott student body strove to promote scholarship, leadership, character, and service in the other students. In order to encourage these goals, the Honor Society displayed an honor roll of students who earned all A and B grades during the final quarter of 1960 and 1961. Letters of congratulations were sent to freshmen who made the honor roll. As a new project, the Scott chapter competed with Woodward in a varsity scholastic match held in February. In April 1961 junior and senior members were inducted in a ceremony which carried on a tradition of honor at Scott.

Every morning during the home room period, students of Scott High School were inspired by the messages prepared and delivered by members of the Meditation Committee. To maintain a high quality in meditations that would arouse thought in fellow students, the Meditation Commitee held monthly meetings to consider topics of inspirational value; subcommittees met often to help individual speakers plan meditations. During the week of his meditations the committee member practiced with other members to insure the effect of his delivery. As an additional service, the committee planned a Meditation Assembly held after Christmas vacation.

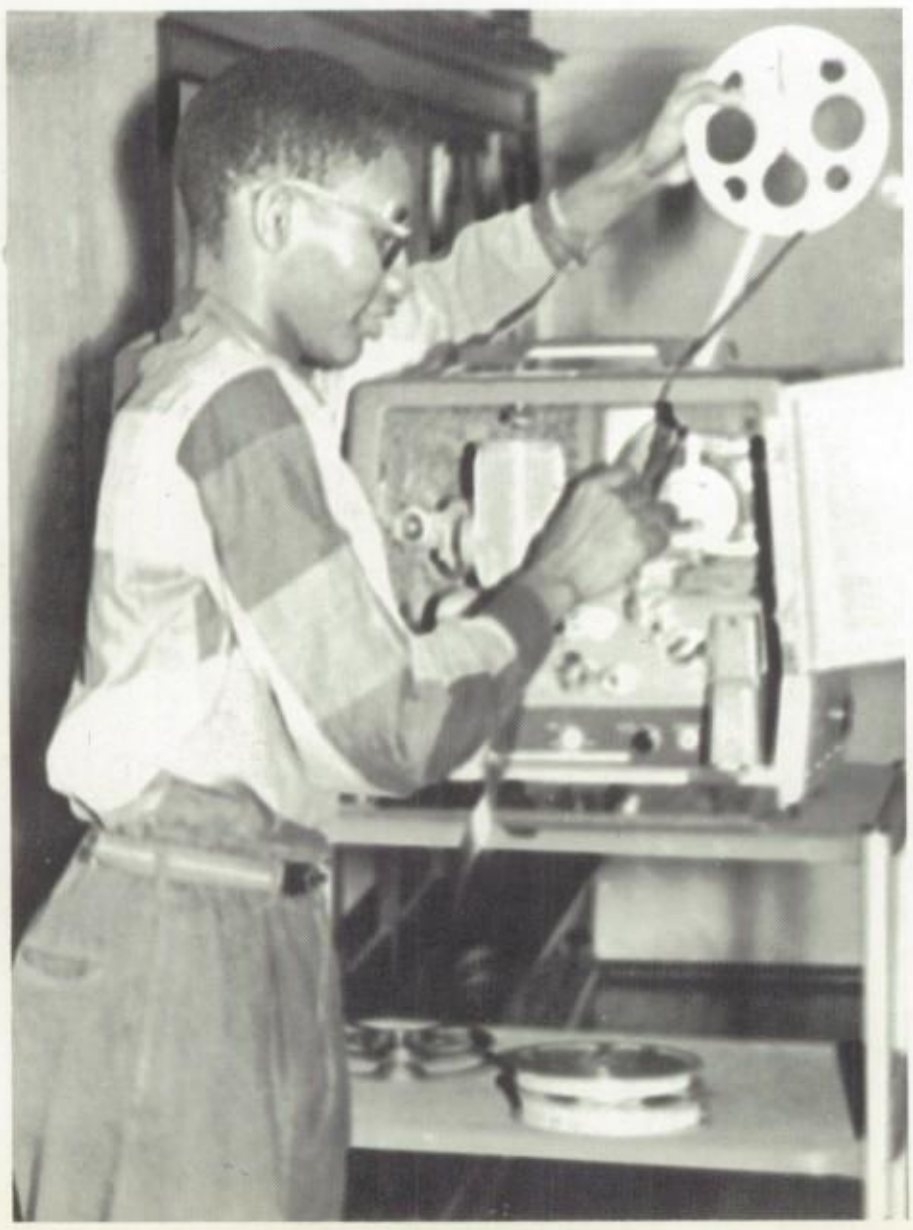
Projectionists Aid Visual Education



Every morning before classes began, the duties of the projectionists got well under way. These projectionists, directed by Lary Blankley, under the supervision of Mr. C. R. Croll, were always available to assist teachers by showing films for educational purposes.

Before a boy was permitted to show pictures in a class, he was required to go through a period of training. If, upon completion of this training, a boy was able to operate the projector and make minor repairs, he received a card certifying him to be a projectionist. The projectionists, who gave excellent services, were graded on their courtesy and efficiency. They showed on the average of fifteen to twenty films per week.

French Club Has an Active Year

Learning more about France and its people was the main purpose of the French Club. The club members gave reports to illustrate the many aspects of French life. At one meeting Barbara Brandman, Pat Dowell, and Betty McCaughey described many French delicacies. Mildred Taylor, after studying the history of France, related to members the etiquette of the Louis XIV period. But the French Club was not "all work no play"; at another meeting the members enjoyed playing French word games. In January, the club took a trip to the Toledo Museum of Art to view the French exhibition, which interpreted some of the subjects the members had read and heard about.

Barbara Brandman translates a French word by pantomime.

Although fun marked activities of the Spanish Club, the main purpose of the organization was to stimulate interest in the language by strengthening members' vocabulary skills through informative conversations. Through periodic practice the members learned to speak Spanish more fluently and more accurately. To provide members with a greater knowledge of the Spanish-speaking peoples, the program included the study of customs and cultures of the Spanish countries.

One of the more colorful projects that the club conducted was the presentation of several festival dances. Such projects as these made the task of learning much easier and more enjoyable.

Dramatics Club Improves Performance

Any student who was interested in acting joined the Dramatics Club with one purpose in mind — to develop good speech habits. In order to improve their ability in dramatics, the club members, under the direction of Mrs. Ina Miller, presented one-act plays at their semi-monthly meetings. At the completion of a play, the members criticized the presentation to guide participants in correcting speech faults.

For the enjoyment of the school, the club presented a Christmas play over the public address system. One of the outstanding activities of the year was the state-wide speech meet at Whitmer High School in which Scott student Albert Ruch participated.

Judy Thomas watches as Albert Ruch adjusts the microphone for Larry Wallace.

Quest for harmony guided the Scott orchestra throughout the year. These musicians provided for the student body many enjoyable hours by the part they contributed to the assemblies. Under Mr. Robert Klein's direction, instrumentalists met to practice for performance in the Christmas assembly, the Easter assembly, and the Spring Music Festival. Some orchestra members participated in after-school recitals, which not only brought enjoyment to the teachers and students attending, but also gave the participants an opportunity to learn to play before an audience. This enthusiastic group created a good spirit to which Scotters responded rapidly.

Symphonic Choir Inspires Student Body

The Scott Symphonic Choir, under the direction of Mr. Myron Gerber, proved a great inspiration to all Scott students. The choir's wide variety of activities ranged from singing at school programs to conducting bake sales to finance its program.

In February, the choir sold Valentine's Day candy, the purpose of which was twofold: first, to make enough money to buy a new tape recorder, and second, by using their recorder, to take advantage of an opportunity to make a record for Century Record Manufacturing Company.

The instrumental groups and the choir performed together in the Spring Music Festival.

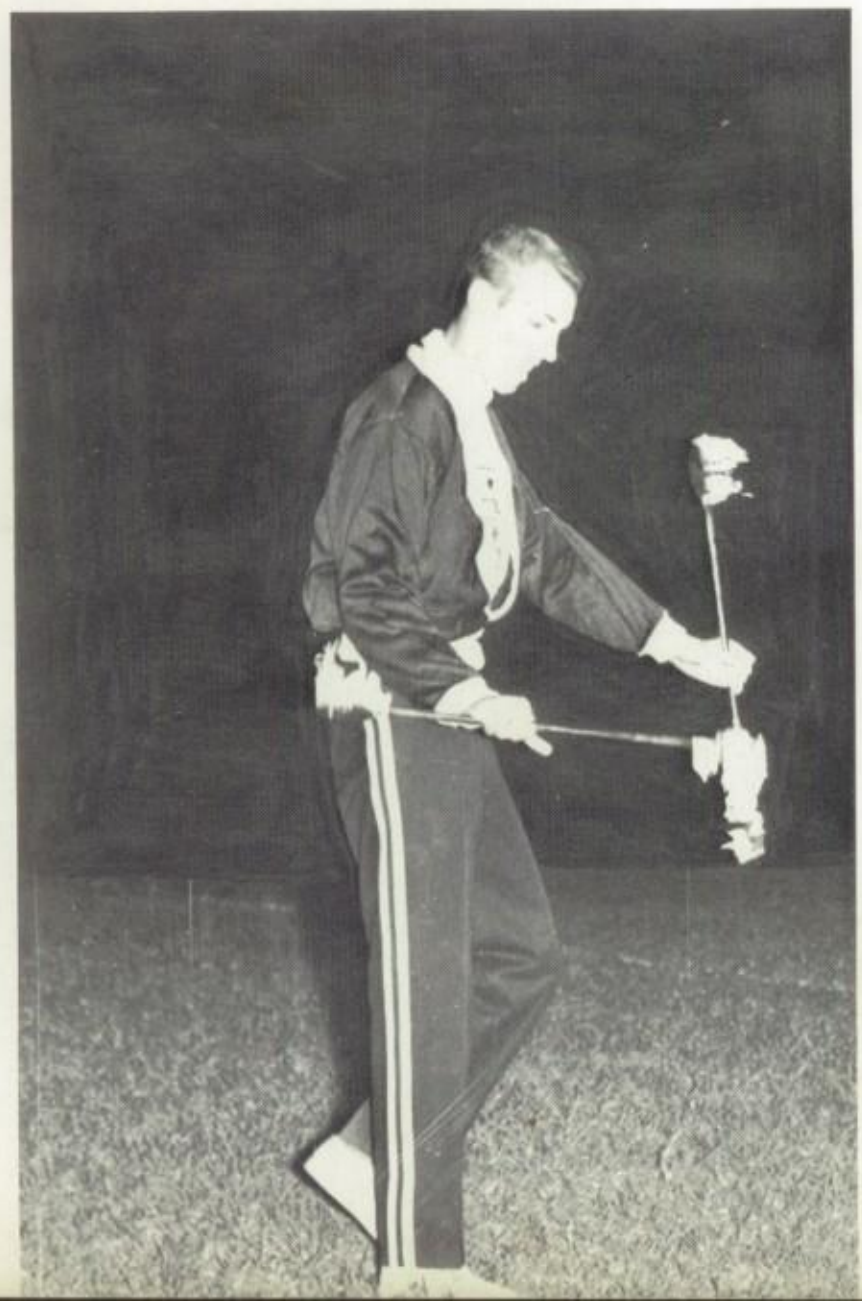
Band Unity Produces Successful Year



Welcoming Wilbur McClure, Olympic Gold Medal winner, on his return from Rome, provided the Scott High Marching Band with an excellent opportunity to demonstrate its talents. Given this experience, they proceeded to provide Scotters with unique and interesting half-time programs at the football games.

When the band appeared at the Thanksgiving Day game, their new parkas proved the effectiveness of the candy sales held in November and the successful tag day held early in December.

Hours of steady practice, a spirit of cooperation, and Mr. Robert Klein's efficient guidance resulted in enlivened pep assemblies and another outstanding production of the Spring Music Festival.

Phonsa King concentrates on her trombone exercises in Mr. Klein's third hour music class.

Barbara Hohenberger buys a candy bar from band member Joan Scott.

Mr. Klein drills the band on the football field during the third period.

Junior-Senior Y-Teens Pursue

Senior Y-Teens Laura Allen, Donna Wilhelm, June Foster, and Georgia Milios sell tempting pastries.

Doris Raby gives Barbara Abbott her long-awaited mum.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Gracie Stewart, the Junior-Senior Y-Teens were combined this year. The club sold mums, gave a tea for the football team mothers, and honored them at the Thanksgiving assembly.

A tea given for the Freshman Y-Teens interpreted the purpose of the club: to develop friendship with girls of different races, religions, and creeds.

Pat Hardiman and Betty Rosebrock address a letter of thanks to the professional model who spoke at one meeting.

The active Sophomore Y-Teens gave a tea in February at the central Y.W.C.A. to honor mothers of the varsity basketball players. Another club activity was to present Miss McDonald, a professional model, who gave the girls a few important highlights on how to be well-groomed. Thus the club completed an interesting year.

Freshman Y-Teens Advance Through Activities

The main purpose of the Freshman Y-Teens was the "adoption" of two homes for aged women. For Christmas the club made corsages for the ladies and sang carols at the home. Members agreed to give small tokens to the homes on all major holidays.

A constructive program to instruct members how to become "better women for tomorrow" included presentation of guest speakers to address them on etiquette and fashion.

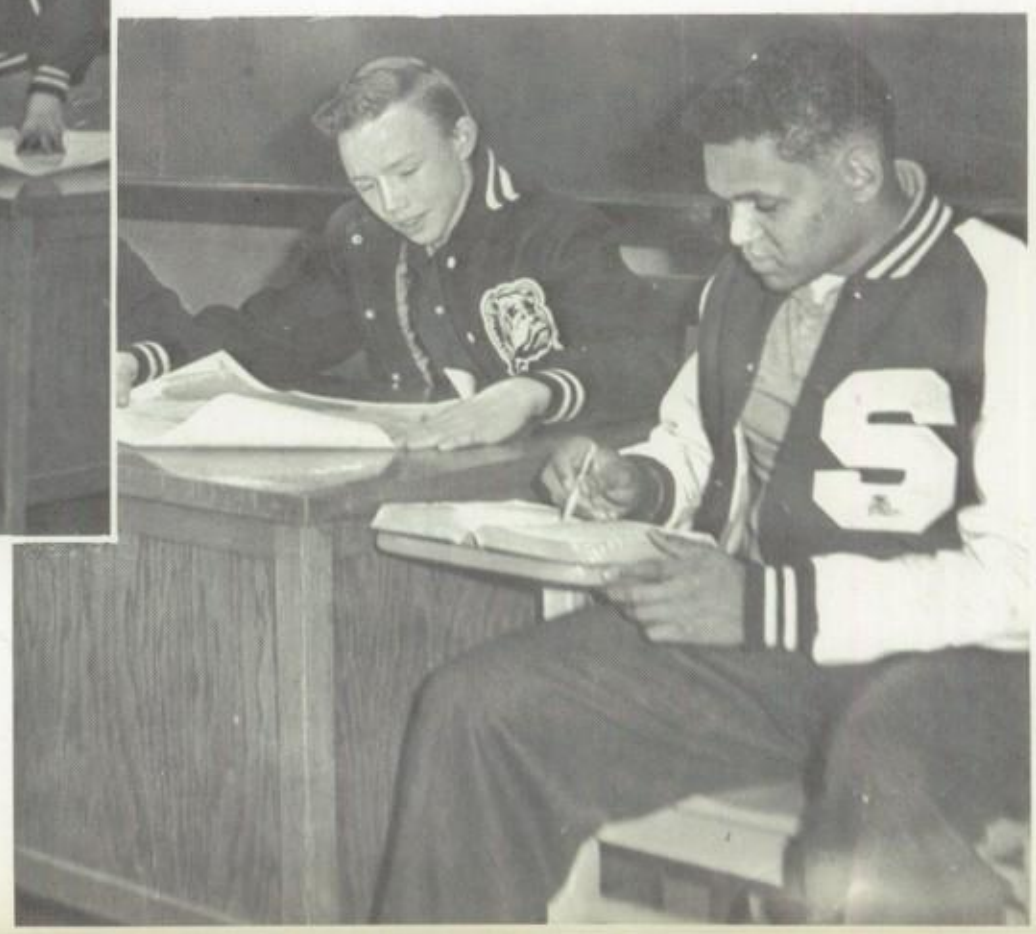
Hi-Y Builds Character

Ernie Jones listens attentively as Bob Turvey presides at a meeting.

The members of the Hi-Y upheld the principles of the club to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school, home, church, and community high standards of Christian character. This attitude was reflected in all their athletic events, in their meetings at the Y.M.C.A., and in group activities such as the canoe trip taken by the club in northern Michigan in the spring.



Dave Bethany checks information for a proposed canoe trip.

Sharon Stinchcomb and Cathy Renfro listen as Annie Nalls gives a business report.

Miss Bulloch speaks to the club on job opportunities.

The main purpose of the Business Club was to enlighten students about the many aspects of the business world. Plans for the year included visiting local business industries, production of a skit depicting the various duties of a secretary, and the presentation of professional business personnel who spoke about professional etiquette and business problems.

Junior Red Cross Completes Year of Service

Ex-Scotter Wilbert McClure, (RIGHT), Olympic Gold Medal winner, speaks to Junior Red Cross members at an area meeting of the organization.

The Junior Red Cross participated actively in a year of service at home and abroad. To compare club projects with those of other local chapters, representatives of the Scott club attended monthly meetings of the Area Junior Red Cross. One of the important services undertaken was filling Red Cross boxes for students overseas.

Judy Mitchell and Betty Henry post illustrative material on the club bulletin board in the adviser's room.

F.T.A. president, Rachelle Zucker, gives instructions to club members who acted as ushers at Scott Open House in November.

Development of interest in teaching for young adults was the purpose which guided the Future Teachers. To accomplish this, members held "teaching sessions" at meetings. A member would "teach" for five minutes; discussion about her presentation would follow. The active and industrious club climaxed its year with a beautiful installation ceremony in May.

Scott's Lettermen Form "S" Club

The Varsity "S" Club, the first of its kind to be organized at Scott, helped to promote a better understanding of and respect for athletics among all students. Membership in the club was open to all boys who had earned a varsity letter in any sport. At the first meetings the members aimed primarily to construct a club constitution and to organize a program for the year's activities. Then as the year progressed, projects became realities. During the spring the members sponsored a basketball game between the faculty and club members and a record hop. The club plan also included the idea for a spring sports banquet.

The G. A. A. Promotes Physical Fitness

Any sophomore, junior, or senior girl who was interested in sports and had an A or B average in physical education was eligible to join the Girls' Athletic Association. Through a program of sports, the G.A.A. provided its members with an excellent opportunity to maintain physical fitness and offered them a chance to participate in competitive games and to develop good sportsmanship. Among the activities were volleyball, basketball, ping-pong, softball, and calisthenics. Every other month the members held a program meeting to discuss methods of improving physical skills.

Every month, under the leadership of Dave Sanders, editor, and Mrs. Conwell, adviser, the THISTLE Staff published a four-page newspaper. Each edition presented sports, social highlights, school functions, and editorials. The aims of each THISTLE member included promoting better student, parent, and teacher relationships, and keeping the student body informed. When a deadline approached, staff members could be observed working feverishly to finish assignments. To increase income, members of the staff sold programs and tickets for football and basketball games; they also collected Pepsi Cola bottle caps for which they received one-half cent apiece.

Work on the 1961 SCOTTONIAN began during the summer when Editor Bob Beach, after attending yearbook workshop at Ohio University, planned the layout for each ot the 192 pages. After school opened in September, the rush of selling subscriptions, photographing, copy writing, identifying pictures, and proof reading started. Staff members planned ahead to complete their sections early, but deadlines arrived quickly and tension increased as workers strove for originality and accuracy in finishing their pages.

In May staff members breathed a sigh of relief when the product of their year's work arrived. They submitted their yearbook to the National Scholastic Press Association for critical judgment and then waited eagerly for the scorebook that would evaluate their work.

June Foster, SCOTTONIAN typist, records an item for the index.

The Student Council, under the guidance of President Dale Williams and Vice-President John Loo, was responsible for the co-ordination of class and club events. The commissioners met every Monday morning to discuss the solution of problems that arose and to make recommendations to the student assembly, which met every Tuesday morning. On Wednesday mornings, Dale Williams related by the public address system the topics of discussion held and decisions made at the meeting. A homeroom discussion period followed, during which the homeroom representatives answered questions the students asked about activities that the Student Council sponsored during the year.

Activities Extend Beyond Club Meetings

Donna Wilhelm glows with excitement as Scott's candidate to "Beyond the Sea," the Area Y-Teen formal.

Maurice Henderson purchases baked goods from Meditation Committee members, Suzanne Hinr and Richard Maza, at the bake sale on St. Valentine's Day.

Mr. Lou Thomas, of the Sun Oil Company, demonstrates to Mr. Bradford the polyurethane foam that he has just made at a chemistry society meeting.

John Burgess and Judy Berkau audition for roles in the Dramatics Club presentation of the one-act play "Figurehead."

As another year draws to a close, one finds time to reflect on the events of the past months. Scotters have done many things: they have achieved important individual goals; they have learned the value of working together; many have gained recognition in state and national competitions. Most important of all, however, they have become a part of Scott and Scott has left an indelible impression of each one of them. As each student progresses through his four years of high school, the traditions and the class spirit of Scott help him to form habits of study, sportsmanship, and character that will remain his throughout life. In the same way, the personality of Scott grows by the contributions of her hundreds of students in the scholarship, the sportsmanship, and the citizenship for which she is renowned.

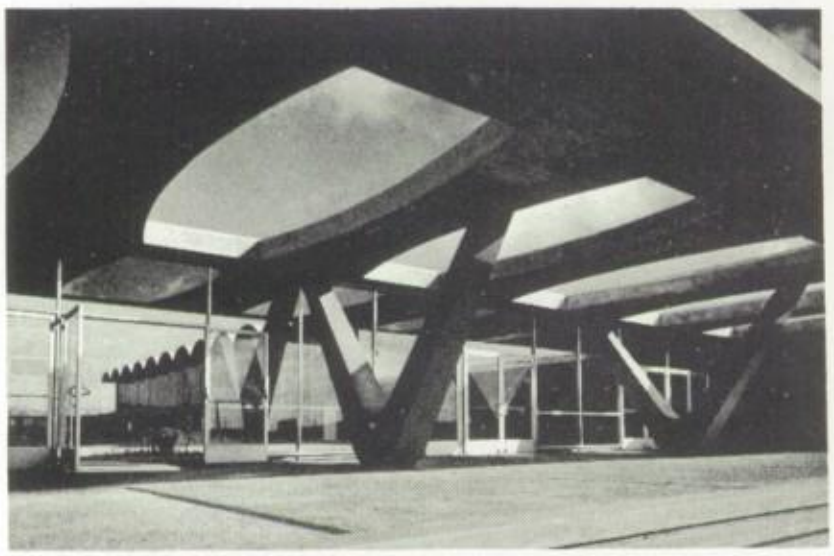
Glass Has Made A Difference



Now is the time to reflect upon the "good ole' days" in school—the many friends, your favorite teachers, sports and dances and parties. But when looking at today's school architecture, we think you'll agree that glass has made a difference!

Here's picture-proof that school corridors don't have to be dark and dreary tunnels. No longer must walls be solid and opaque. Today, more attention is being paid to daylight and view.

When reflecting upon the advantages of this glass age, we think you'll agree that the "good new days" are better.

Finis

Once again it is time to say that the job of producing the Scottonian is finished. This year, as in other years, it has been a lot of work, but a lot of fun.

In putting together this book, which represents and delineates one year in your high school life, we staff members have been privileged to an over-all view of Scott and its meaning to many students.

To graduating seniors it soon will be only a memory, and we hope you have made it a happy one. To the juniors, another year — the best — is still left. Strive to make it that. The sophomores are really Scotters now, with the half-way point nearly reached. The freshmen, with three years left before them, are just beginning to learn what it means to be a part of Scott.

We of the staff submit this forty-eighth edition of the Scottonian as the effort of our collective best to keep alive for you in mind and heart the memories of Scott High School, 1961.

To our fellow students, to our school staff, and to our friends, may good fortune be yours in the years to come.

Mickey,
I'll never forget the wonderful times we've had these past few years. May all your days be filled with happiness. Best wishes,
Judy Marich

Big Mick,
You are about the wildest + sexiest guy I ever knew and probably will ever know.

Night Falls; We Wait to Begin

Another New Day,.Another New Year

To Mickey,
A wonderful boy who is a swell jazz player
and has a jazzy
personality to match.
It has been marvelous knowing you during the past years. The little services I've done had been helped me to understand more about you and to realize that you are a gifted person.
Best of luck always,
Kathy Duffy

To Mickey,
You're so much nicer than my own brother that I may exchange you. I'll adapt Please stay as nice a guy as you are because if you do you will really go far.
Good luck
I'll see you soon
Love —

To Mickey
A real swell
guy who I've had a blast knowing this year. Good luck always!

To Mickey,
You've been a blast
knowing you this year.
I wish you the luck in the world! Keep laughing & lots of luck
always!

To Mick -
a real swinging
guy who's a blast
to be around in emergencies
and a good man
doubles partner
Best of Luck
Always

Mick, Well another year is over and like all the others
I think this was the "best" yet, we really gave "Rabbi" a hard time didn't we?
as you say: "We ain't seen nothin' yet"
Best Wishes

To a real sharp guy whom I have enjoyed knowing. Hope to see you next year.
Good luck always

To Mick, Boy, I can't get over
you. You're too much. Swell personality and smile.
Best of Luck.

For Suzie — whose she? Yeah, who is she?

Big Mick,
The past seven & a half months have meant more to me than I can possibly say. All the fun, all the experiences, all the wonder full memories. You are by far the best I could ever want or have. Its kind of silly to say stupid things like "Good Luck" etc. You deserve the best of everything & I know you'll have it. Hope future months are as happy as the past ones have been.
Love always
Suzie
